DECLARE WAR WITH KNIVES TO THE HILT

PREMIER STOLYPIN ISSUES ORDERS TO CRUSH "ENEMIES OF SOCIETY."

SWEEPING MANIFESTO INCLUDES EVEN EDUCATED CLASSES OF CONSTITUTIONAL DEMOCRATS.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 24.—War against revolution, with the knife to the hilt, was proclaimed today by Premier Stolypin in a telegram addressed to the governors general, governors and prefects throughout Russia and to the viceroy of the Caucasus, who are ordered to strike and spare no efforts to preserve order and crush "the enemies of society." Included in this category, as shown by the events of the day, are not only revolutionists and socialists, but also the educated liberal and landed classes represented in the Constitutional Democratic party, whose clubs everywhere have been closed and all the progressive newspapers which are not permitted to lift their voices anywhere throughout the entire land. Premier Stolypin's telegram is as follows:

"In conformity with instructions received from the emperor, with the view to securing full co-operation between the different local authorities, I hereby inform you that the government expects you to exercise vigilant and untiring supervision over your subordinates, so that order may be promptly and definitely restored. Disturbances must be suppressed and revolutionary movements must be put down by all legal means. The measures you take must be carefully considered.

"The struggle begun is against the enemies of society, and not against society itself. Consequently, wholesale repression cannot be approved of. Imprudent and illegal acts are likely to give rise to discontent instead of conducting to calm, and cannot be tolerated.

"The intentions of the emperor are immutable. The government firmly desires to assist in the amendment of the legal procedure and the laws hitherto enforced, which no longer serve their purpose. The old regime will be regenerated, but order must be fully maintained. You must act on your own initiative, as you are invested with responsibilities. Firm and vigorous steps taken on these lines will doubtless be upheld by the best part of society."

The [illegible] bears a remarkable similarity to the earlier compositions of Ministers of the Interior Plehve and Bouligan, and the reactionary press has had slight difficulty in keeping it down to an appeal to the "League of Russian men" and other old school Russians to rise and smite all the progressive classes.

Even before the declaration of the dissolution of the lower house of parliament, the war office had perfected its plans for handling expected disorders, both military and civilian. General Zakomelsky, who suppressed the Sebastopol revolt, was recalled from the command of a corps and placed at the disposition of the war office. Both the government and the revolutionists expect trouble in the south and that it will roll northward to the two capitals. This may induce the proletariat organizations to postpone the general strike until the contagion is borne up from the south. The railroaders, however, are anxious to have the strike declared at once. Members of the railway employes union declared that they were ready to walk out at the first call.

The strictest censorship over news of military disorders is maintained. As an example the mutiny at Brest-Litovsk, July 23, when a band of artillerymen fired on the Officers club, killing two officers, has been transformed into a fire destroying the house of the Officers club.

The ministry is obtaining slight aid from the forces of society at large in pulling through its policy.

M. [illegible]ipoff and Guichkoff and practically all the others who have been approached have refused flatly to participate in the proposed enlarged cabinet.

The Constitutional Democratic club and two other political clubs were closed tonight by order of the police. A caucus of Constitutional Democrats was being held at the club named at the time.

Prince Dolgouroff, chairman of the central executive committee appointed at Viborg on Monday, has called a meeting of that committee which arranged a secret caucus tomorrow to discuss further the situation.

Moscow Constitutional Democrats requested the summoning of a national convention of the party, but this will scarcely be allowed by the authorities.

Meetings are being held tonight in a dozen houses in St. Petersburg, and [illegible] across the frontier. Railway employes, peasants, socialists and revolutionists of different shades of opinion are discussing the best plan of action to throw the whole machinery of the government out of gear.

Agrarian disorders have broken out in the vicinity of St. Petersburg. The estate of General Baron Frederick, aide de camp to the emperor, has been plundered by peasants. General Frederick asked for troops from Gatchina, but was informed that the situation was too serious to permit of the changing of the present military dispositions.

Discuss [illegible] Policy.

MOSCOW, July 24.—The immediate declaration of a general strike is meeting with opposition in the workmen's council but a [illegible] faction [illegible]

UNDER FORTY-FIVE DEATH SENTENCES

GROUP OF TOIL LEADER DECIDES TO STAY AWAY FROM ST. PETERSBURG FOR HIS HEALTH.

LONDON, July 24.—M. Alladin, leader of the Group of Toil; M. Rodischeff, leader of the Constitutional Democrats, and M. Ostrogarsky Vasileff and Prof. Kovalevsky, who came from St. Petersburg to London to attend the session of the interparliamentary union, departed tonight. With the exception of M. Alladin, they will proceed direct to St. Petersburg. M. Alladin said:

"I am not going to St. Petersburg because if I did my life would be in extreme danger. While parliament was sitting I was comparatively safe, as deputies could not be arrested. Now that it is dissolved, I must take every precaution.

"There are 45 death sentences hanging over my head, and the government would dearly like to get hold of me. I am going to Finland where the authorities will not be likely to arrest me. If they did the Finish people would fight for me and (touching his revolver) I should fight, too.

"I always carry firearms and I shall not be taken if I can help it."

M. Alladin said he knew that special detectives had followed the members of the Russian parliament to England.

MINERS UNION EXPELS FEDERATION PRESIDENT

HELENA, Mont., July 24.—Alexander G. Fairgrove, president of the State Federation of Labor has been expelled from membership in Mount Helena miners union of this city. This action has caused no little comment in union circles. Charges were made against Fairgrove that he used his position as president of the State Federation of Labor to fight the Western Federation of Miners of which the Helena union is a post. Among the charges said to have been preferred against Fairgrove was that he made a remark to the effect that Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, Western Federation officials accused of killing Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, should stay in jail.

LIMITED TRAIN KILLS FARMER AND HIS WIFE

COLUMBUS, O., July 24.—While driving across the tracks in Grandview avenue, west of this city, this evening, William Zinn, a farmer, aged 72, and his wife, Elizabeth, aged 65, were struck by the Twentieth Century Limited Big Four train and instantly killed. The bodies are fearfully mangled.

500 CAR REPAIRERS ARE OUT ON STRIKE

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—A strike of the Southern Pacific's car repairers which extends almost entirely across the state of Louisiana, from here to Lake Charles, and involves 500 men, was begun today. The strike involves nearly every class of workingmen occupied in making and inspecting cars. The men demand recognition of their union. A special from Lafayette, La., tonight said it was reported that the strike would shortly extend to Houston.

MORMON SOCIALISTS CONDEMN GOVERNORS

SALT LAKE, July 24.—The Socialist state convention here today nominated William S. Dalton, of Salt Lake for judge of the supreme court and Homer P. Burt for congressman. The platform declares for a law making operative the direct legislation amendment adopted by the people six years ago; public ownership and the abolition of the contract system on public works. A resolution was adopted condemning as "anarchists" the governors of Idaho and Colorado for their actions toward Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone under arrest charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg.

BLEW OUT BRAINS IN BOAT ON LAKE

ILLINOIS [illegible] CAUGHT "LONG" ON WHEAT, TOWS OUT ON [illegible] AND SHOOTS HIMSELF [illegible]

CHICAGO, July 24.—Fred S. Broberg, a prominent broker of Mon[illegible], Ill., who disappeared from there last Saturday on account, it is said, of a $10,000 shortage in his accounts, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head on Lake Calumet.

His body was found in a boat on the lake today but was not identified until tonight. Broberg rented the boat late Monday afternoon and was not seen alive again.

Broberg's downfall is attributed to an attempt he made to carry trades himself instead of having them executed on the Chicago board of trade. The recent slump in grain is said to have caught him "long" on a considerable quantity of wheat and he was unable to meet his obligations.

DIVER IS D[illegible]

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—W. H. Pickard, while working beneath the Mississippi river today in a diver's suit, lost his life through the breaking of his life line. It was five hours before he was brought to the surface and, although the air hose was [illegible] intact, he was suffocated, probably [illegible] he had been unable to signal to the [illegible] the [illegible]

STEPS FROM BOX CAR TO QUICK DEATH

SON OF WEALTHY OHIOAN MEETS TRAGIC DEATH IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

TRAIN ON HIGH TRESTLE, YOUTH ALIGHTING, PLUNGES TO DEATH ON JAGGED ROCKS BELOW.

WALSENBURG, Colo., July 24.—While attempting to alight from a freight train which was standing on the trestle over the Cucharas river, north of Walsenburg, early this morning, Fred Fallert of Hamilton, O., stepped into space and landed head first in the river bed, 30 feet below. His neck and back were broken and death was instantaneous.

The man was evidently stealing a ride, and when the Colorado & Southern train stopped to take water Fallert, according to a companion, decided to stop off at Walsenburg for a few days. The tank is only a short distance below the trestle, and the rear portion of the train remained on the bridge. It was about 2 o'clock in the morning and so dark that he was unable to see. Thinking that he would alight on the ground the young man stepped from the car door and started on his rapid flight downward.

His shrieks attracted the trainmen and an investigation revealed the body of the young easterner. Besides having his back and neck broken, a fracture of the skull caused by coming in contact with the sharp rocks was also inflicted.

According to the companion, whose name could not be learned, he and Fallert, prompted by a desire to see the world and get a taste of real western life, had decided to travel and, refused funds by their parents, started on their own account.

From papers and letters found among the man's effects it is believed Fallert's father is a wealthy business man of Ohio. A telegram has been sent to the parents, notifying them of the accident and asking what disposition shall be made of the body. Fallert was about 24 years of age and well dressed.

That the unknown companion did not meet with a like fate is probably due to the fact that a brakeman hurried to the scene following the shrieks of Fallert and the light from his lantern enabled the other young man to see the danger.

PAID LAST TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF SAGE

NEW YORK, July 24.—The funeral service over the body of the late Russell Sage was held in the First Presbyterian church at Far Rockaway this afternoon. A number of prominent persons were among those who came to pay a last tribute to the memory of the aged financier.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Andrew Hageman, assistant pastor of the Collegiate Reformed church of New York, assisted by the Rev. Robert Leitch, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Far Rockaway, and the Rev. Lyman D. Calkins, assistant pastor of the church.

Mrs. Sage attended the service. A party of Mr. Sage's friends from this city were at the funeral.

SAYS HE'S AFRAID OF BEING KILLED

Running into the police station at 1 o'clock this morning, without a hat and carrying his shoes in his hands, Samuel Hicks, 50 years old, told Police Captain Hoffman that the people at the Peoples' Mission had been trying to murder him while he slept. He asked permission to sleep under the protecting hand of the law.

The man is apparently demented. He says that he engaged a room at the Mission last night, but, waking up at midnight, he heard men talking about cutting his throat. He grabbed his shoes and ran for the police station. He says that he came here from Denver, where a similar attempt was made to kill him. Hicks says that he was once in an asylum at Cheyenne, where he has a sister, Mrs. Mary E. Minton, but protests that he is not now insane.

YOUTH JILTS GIRL TO WED A WOMAN OF 70

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., July 24.—Frank Kreigh, 19 years old, and Mrs. Sara Eliza Jane [illegible] were married here several days ago by Justice Cyrus B. Groat.

The [illegible] walked erect into the office of the justice. On his flushed, happy face was a smile. The bride was happy, too, though she was bowed by her three score and ten and her hair was snow white. She wore a black silk dress in which she was married years before the Civil war.

Kreigh is a farmer. He was engaged to a girl of his school days when he met Mrs. Lemon at a church social and became infatuated with her.

In a motherly way she invited him to call on her. He called often and soon neighborhood gossip had it that the lad was in love with the woman.

Kreigh admitted it, and all the persuasion of his friends could not induce him to give up his suit. He jilted his maiden sweetheart and proposed to Sara Eliza Jane Lemon.

"I am happy," declared young Kreigh after the marriage ceremony. "I have found my ideal wife and I propose that our life shall be one continual honeymoon."

TAMMANY MAY SUPPORT HEARST FOR GOVERNOR

NEW YORK, July 24.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, said today that it was possible that Tammany hall would support William R. Hearst for the Democratic nomination for governor in the next state convention. Mr. Murphy said:

"[illegible]ind, I don't [illegible] it myself. I don't say that Tammany will be for Hearst. I only say that his opposition to our ticket last year will not of itself make it impossible for Tammany to support him, in the convention."

Mr. Murphy said that he had no opinion to express at this time as to [illegible] Mr. Hearst will be nominated.

PEONAGE OF VICIOUS KIND IN ALABAMA

U. S. DEPUTIES SENT AFTER MAN WHO IGNORE LAWS OF LIBERTY.

GERMANS, ESCAPED, TELL HORRIFYING TALE OF CRUELTY ALMOST WITHOUT PARALLEL IN THE SOUTH.

PENSACOLA, Fla., July 24.—Peonage in a vicious form is charged against the officers of the Jackson Lumber company at Lockhart, Ala., and United States deputies, armed with warrants for their arrest, left here today for that place.

If the allegations are true about 100 immigrants, mostly Germans, are held in the lumber camps of that company virtually as slaves.

A party of Germans reached here today from the camps, stating that they had escaped. They went to the German vice consul for protection and told him a tale of ill-treatment and cruelty that has hardly a parallel in the south.

They said they were brought south in February under representations that they would receive $3, and $5 per day, but only $1 was received from the company for the labor.

They allege that they were compelled to eat after the Americans and if nothing was left they got nothing. None of them was allowed to leave camp and when they attempted to leave they were caught and severely beaten.

When in the woods the bosses go armed, and if the men do not work to suit them, they are stripped and while two of the bosses hold a man across a log a third applies a strap.

The Jackson Lumber company is one of the largest in the south.

NEGROES CONFESS QUINTUPLE CRIME

CHARGE ONE OF [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] LYERLY FAMILY.

SALISBURY, N. C., July 24.—A new turn was taken today in the case against the murderers of four members of the Lyerly family when a written confession was placed in the hands of Sheriff R. Julian of Rowan county, having been forwarded from the Mecklenberg jail. The statement is signed by Alexander Mc[illegible]ay and W. A. Mitchell, two negroes of the five charged with the crime. It declares that Jack Dillingham, another prisoner, and a white man, whose name is withheld, killed Lyerly, his wife, a son and a daughter because of a dispute between Lyerly and the wife of Dillingham, a tenant of the Lyerly farm.

FIVE ARRESTED FOR DEFRAUDING STATE

NEW YORK, July 24.—Charged with selling mortgage tax stamps and stock transfer tax stamps that had already been used, five men were arrested this afternoon on complaint of the state comptroller, Attorney General Mayer and District Attorney Jerome. The authorities charge that the state government has been defrauded out of over $100,000. The men, all of whom were arrested in Wall street, are [illegible] Thompson, a clerk; William O'Reilly, Patrick King, C. H. L[illegible] and [illegible] M. [illegible], all of Brooklyn. COPPER COULDN'T SCRAP IN DRESSES

DONNED FEMALE ATTIRE AND CAUGHT BLACKMAILER, BUT IT TOOK OTHERS TO KEEP HIM.

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—By impersonating Mrs. Theresa Bornero, a wealthy Italian widow, Policeman Carpenter tonight captured a man giving his name as Johann Hoppe, who is held on a charge of sending a threatening letter to Mrs. Borneo. The letter was received today and demanded $500 in cash. It threatened that if Mrs. Bornero communicated with the police or failed to provide the money her home would be dynamited.

An appointment was made for 8:30 o'clock this evening and Carpenter, dressed in one of Mrs. Bornero's gowns, followed the directions contained in the letter. He was accosted by a man who demanded the money.

Carpenter handed him a package with his left hand, at the same time striking him on the jaw with his right. The man showed fight and Carpenter, hampered by the dress, was worsted and the man fled. Other police who had been stationed in the neighborhood, took up the chase and Hoppe was arrested while hiding in an ash bin.

Beyond saying that he had been in St. Louis only two weeks, and in this country only 18 days, Hoppe refused to make a statement.

FROM ALTAR TO AN ASYLUM IN ONE DAY

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 24.—Mrs. Belle Myers was today adjudged insane and committed to the asylum at Weston, by Justice Boughner. The action was taken at the instance of Larkin Dunn, a well to do farmer, for whom Mrs. Myers kept house.

Dunn, who is a widower, fell in love with his housekeeper, who is a widow, and a few days ago they went to Kingwood to be married. While the clerk was making out the marriage license Mrs. Myers became mentally disturbed, and the application for license was withdrawn. On the way home Mrs. Myers' condition became violent and her prospective husband was compelled to have her committed to the asylum.

PAPER MAKERS WANT THE EIGHT HOUR DAY

BUFFALO, July 24.—Papermakers in the 23 mills of the International Paper company in the United States and Canada have given notice that they will go on strike on August 6 unless their working hours are reduced to eight hours a day without reduction in the scale of wages. The papermakers' union will hold a meeting in New York on Monday to form a plan of action.

The International Paper company has been preparing for such a situation.

MOTHER DROPS DEAD HEARING SON IS SLAIN

ALTOONA, Pa., July 24.—"I wonder if anything has happened to Ben," said Mrs. Belle Hicks, as a telegram was handed to her this morning.

She opened the envelope, and learned that her son, B. F. Hicks, had been killed while playing in a game of baseball near Pitcairn yesterday morning.

The mother swooned away, and died in a few minutes from the shock.

Young Hicks, in running after a long fly, stepped on the railroad tracks, and just as he caught the ball, a locomotive struck him, killing him instantly. Hicks was 23 years old.

NEED A NEW CONTROL IN MUTUAL LIFE

UNSAFE TO TRUST THOSE WHO ONCE WERE FALSE, SAYS COLONEL SHOOK.

CLAIMS "POWER" WHICH FIRST PLACED CROOKED MEN IN OFFICE STILL SEEKS CONTROL.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Colonel A. M. Shook of Nashville, a member of the international policyholders committee, who was placed on the administration ticket for trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company without his permission, was in this city today and conferred with the counsel for the policyholders committee. Afterward Colonel Shook said concerning the Mutual Life:

"The revelations during the past year as to flagrant extravagance in the conduct of the business, gross mismanagement, diversion of the sacred trust funds for unauthorized purposes, and the wanton disregard for the interests of policy holders, constitute an indictment not only against the officers who were directly responsible, but against the trustees.

"The throwing overboard of a few officers who were caught and pilloried by public opinion for misdeeds is simply a tub thrown to the whale of outraged and injured policyholders.

"We believe that the real power which has been in control of the affairs of this company and which put in office the men who were caught and then deposed, is still seeking to dominate. It was this power, we are constructed to conclude, which caused men of conscience to retire from the board of trustees months ago, when they found themselves in a minority in advocating measures to the highest and best interests of the policyholders. We cannot see it otherwise than that if we were elected on the ticket proposed by the administration, we would find ourselves in a hopeless minority and unable to do more than raise a voice of protest to policies disregardful of the policyholder's interests.

"The policy holders, who constitute the real company and not the management, are entitled to a minority who will look solely and alone to their interests, not to a majority, but an entire board of trustees who will be thus actuated. We cannot get away from the conviction that there should be an entire change of control of this company. It is neither logical nor safe to trust a second time those who have once been false.

"If they should succeed at this time [illegible] blindly trust them, they could then proceed to greater lengths than ever in the consciousness that by the occasional offering of a sacrifice and by specious promises, they could at any time avert an uprising of policyholders and with the further satisfying thought that after this only a portion of the trustees will be elected during any one year and if they can control the election this time there will be no need to fear. It is therefore up to the policyholders now or never to take control of their property, and have it run in their own interests.

"The present management of the Mutual Life is the only power in America that undertakes to declare martial law and suspend the writ of habeas corpus in time of peace. The convict act that it is promulgating and attempting to enforce is so broad in its provisions that men like General Tracey and myself who are over 60 years of age, are in effect being forced on its ticket. It does not limit its right of conscription to citizens of New York, but [illegible] Illinois, Delaware and Tennessee to recruit it forces."

THE CONTRASTS IN REAL LIFE

Exquisite of Drawing Room Says Life Is a Joke---Consumptive Woman Dies, Homeless, Alone, Neglected.

A GILDED YOUTH'S [illegible]

(Interview with Wilson Mizner in San Francisco Bulletin.)

"Time," said Wilson Mizner, "belongs to no union. He never goes on a strike. While we sleep our enemy is ever at work. Sooner or later he gets us all. Life is always a disappointment. It is a big practical joke.

"There's this skating rink fad in New York. It's too much effort. And I never could understand a man's going to a dance with four collars in his hat extracting pleasure hopping around and perspiring. I'd get operated on for anything that would make me energetic. The ideal state of existence is rest. Sleep and food; then food and sleep, and then reverse the process. Be sure it's light, then go to bed. The sun just lulls me to sleep.

"People take me for a clothes rack, a namby-pamby jackass, a peaceful baboon who wouldn't raise his hand to help a fellow, capable of only the most elementary knowledge, two plus being an unlawful assemblage. Dress is a secondary consideration with me. I'm a perfect slob. I only go around so the health commissioners won't complain. As for money, I don't care for that either. I have always made a lot, but I never can keep it. If I had $8 at the end of a year I'd break out in a rash."

DYING WOMAN'S SAD STORY.

NEW YORK, July 24.—By the death today of a forlorn woman while she was being taken to Bellevue hospital from Madison Square a case of cruel neglect on the part of the police and charitable societies has been revealed, according to Louis Kauffmann of 44 West Twenty-second street. He declares that the woman, while in the last stages of consumption, has been allowed to occupy for two weeks a bench in Madison Square park, from which she was too weak to move.

Mr. Kauffman first noticed the woman a week ago last Tuesday. This morning the woman appeared to be dying and Mr. Kauffman spoke to her. She told him she had remained in the park for two weeks, as she had no place to go. Mr. Kauffman at once sought a policeman, but he said he could do nothing and sent him to a police station. At the station house the sergeant said it was out of his line, as the station was for the regulation of traffic only. The officer, however, notified the Tenderloin station, but nothing came of it.

Mr. Kauffman then tried the United Charities, only to be told it was a private institution, with the recommendation that he try Bellevue. He telephoned that hospital and an ambulance was sent, but the woman died before she reached the institution.

STARTLING SENSATIONS ARE TO COME IN THE HARTJE SUIT

PITTSBURG, July 24.—From the statement made by District Attorney Robb today there are more sensations in the Hartje divorce case than have been heretofore disclosed. Mr. Robb said that as soon as the Hartje case was submitted to the court there would be arrests which would develop pronounced sensations.

It is expected that a great legal battle will take place when Hartje's attorneys endeavor to show how the Madine love letters were secured.

After several hours devoted by counsel for Hartje in the endeavor to prove that the Wagner letter was written by Mrs. Hartje, which she had denied writing, the evidence in rebuttal of Mrs. Hartje's defense took a new turn today.

B. B. Smith, an insurance agent, swore that he found the "Dead Edith" letter in the street and after consulting an attorney gave it to Edward Hartje, brother of the plaintiff.

Silas Canady, a negro from Washington, testified that Blanch Ashby never observed anything improper about Mrs. Hartje, who in her deposition said she never observed anything improper about Mrs. Hartje's conduct has told him that she lied. Canady's sensational testimony came just before the adjournment, but he was put a through rigid cross examination by Attorney Freeman for Mrs. Hartje, during which he became confused several times. Mr. Freeman will finish the cross examination tomorrow.

Canady said that when he learned that Blanche Ashby was going to get a lot of money for lying he wrote to Mr. Hartje to find out if he could not get some money for telling the truth.

Handwriting experts Frazer concluded his testimony today after a short cross examination by Attorney Freeman. One of the alleged Helen Scott letters was mad, public today although it had not been read in court. It is a letter to Tom Madine, the coachman co-respondent in the case and purporting to show that she coached him as to what testimony he was to give in court concerning the allegation that Madine had driven Mr. Hartje to Schenley park while Mrs. Hartje was at Memphis, where he met a strange woman, an incident that was figured in the case heretofore.

to wait until there shall come a spontaneous development of the southern movement and at the same time continue a propaganda in the army and in the villages. A bomb factory in which was a quantity of loaded bombs was discovered here today. The owner of the house and the bomb makers were arrested.

TO SPREAD STRIKE THROUGHOUT RUSSIA

ST. PETERSBURG, July 24.—A secret meeting of the recently reorganized council of workmen was held tonight. It was attended by delegations representing all other present factories in St. Petersburg, deputies from the League of Leagues and representatives of the Social Democratic and Social Revolutionary parties.

The meeting discussed and accepted a proposition from the socialistic group of the dissolved lower house of parliament to unite with them in the formation of a central group to inaugurate a strike movement throughout all Russia.

THREATENED MASSACRE.

ODESSA, JULY 24.—11:33 p. m.—There has been no actual program here today, but drunken Cossacks endeavored to instigate an anti-Jewish massacre in Moldovanka, but were scattered by infantry who instantly cordoned the Jewish quarter and threatened to annihilate the Cossacks. The latter were withdrawn to their barracks by order of their commander. Under sudden terror 200 Jewish families sought refuge in other parts of the city.

GETTING READY FOR WAR.

VIENNA, July 24.—Russian officers spending leave of absence at Austrian watering places, have been ordered by the Russian government to return to Russia. The orders point out that threatening conditions make it necessary to place the army on a war footing.

MERCHANT'S BODY IS FOUND IN THE RUINS

SOUTH FARMINGTON, Mass., July 24.—The finding of the body of Henry L. Sawyer, a prominent hardware dealer who went to the collapsed building on Concord street to inspect the plumbing plans, brought the number of dead up to 11 and it is believed that there are four more bodies in the ruins.

OFFERS STICKNEY A PLACE

Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—A special to the Journal from Washington, D. C., says that A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago Great Western Railway company, has been offered a place on the interstate commerce commission by President Roosevelt.

GIRL RISKS LIFE TO GET A STORY

BRAVE NEWSPAPER GIRL, AFTER WRITING ROMANCE OF BONANZA MINES, SURRENDERS TO CUPID

EL PASO, Tex., July 24.— The romance of a new bonanza in the wilds of Mexico and of a woman who was not afraid culminated in the marriage in El Paso of Harry J. Eisenhart, general manager of La Corona mines, and Miss Horace Greeley Perry, a plucky little newspaper woman, who had worked all over the United States and done stunts in foreign countries.

La Corona mines have been worked for hundreds of years. They were the property of the kings of Spain and never has the ore come out of the wild, Indian-infested district, except on pack trains of burros. It is more than 100 miles from a railroad, and for a long time the claim was deserted. It has an interesting history. A Colonel Hemmitt thought that the old claims could be worked again. He bought the mines and took his wife into the wild district. The Indians rebelled and, surrounding his offices, killed Hemmitt, seriously wounded his wife and murdered all of the servants. England demanded an indemnity, and the incident cost Mexico $65,000.

Recently new veins of ore have been struck of all the old richness. Every indication points to a new bonanza, and it was the news of this discovery which caused a managing editor of a Mexico City daily to request Miss Perry to make the trip and tell the new story in connection with the famous old mines.

She accepted the assignment and with an Indian mozo as guide, traveled by pony through the rough country, camping out at night until she reached the famous La Corona mines. Henry J. Eisenhart, who is general manager, and who, with other Americans, is interested in La Corona, offered his own room as a guest chamber and Miss Perry spent her first night in the new district in the same room in which Hemmitt was slain. That was the beginning of the romance.

BODIES STILL ARE BURIED IN WATER

NUMBER OF DEAD IN GREAT NORTHERN WRECK PROBABLY WILL BE [illegible] OR [illegible]

SPOKANE, Wash., July 24.—When the Spokesman Review staff correspondent left the scene of the disastrous Great Northern wreck 30 miles east of Spokane at 6 o'clock, none of the bodies buried in Diamond lake had been recovered.

Efforts with a steam derrick to raise the submerged locomotive and the cars were unsuccessful.

The known dead number six, but many in the vicinity of the wreck believe that the number will be [illegible] to 12 or 15.

San Francisco, July 24.—The freight handlers of the Southern Pacific at West Oakland went on strike today demanding an increase of 2½ cents per hour.

HOODOO PERCHES ON AMERICANS' MOTORS

PARIS, July 24.—A hoodoo seems to rest upon American automobilists in France this year. Scarcely a party of Americans sets out for an automobile ride that it does not meet with an accident of some kind.

Just before leaving for Trouville, W. K. Vanderbilt's car knocked down a postman in the streets of Paris, badly injuring him.

Between Rheims and Metz the other day an automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. Lisman of New York and Mrs. Rose, who was accompanying them, side-slipped and colliding with a tree, was wrecked. The occupants were thrown out and badly shaken. Mrs. Rose sustained some bad bruises and was conveyed to the home of Dr. Colanfrt at Rheims, where she is being nursed.

SCREWS DOWN LID ON SEATTLE FIGHT GAME

SEATTLE, Wash., July 24.—Chief of Police Wappenstein gave instructions today that in the future prize fighters, their trainers and hangers-on would not be permitted to remain in Seattle and continue their prize fight preparations. The chief said he would enforce the state law which makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to be connected in any capacity with a prize fight.

CADDY TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Preparations are now in progress for the annual caddy tournament to be held Saturday over the Town and Gown Golf club course. Entries are being booked this week, and about 20 of the boys are expected to compete. The tournament will comprise 18-hole play or twice around the ladies' nine-hole course. Prizes will be given winners by the Town and Gown club.

S. S. BERNARD IS TO BE REINSTATED

Asking the reinstatement of S. S. Bernard of this city, a petition signed by nearly all the prominent turfmen of Denver, has been sent to the Chicago headquarters of the American Trotting association.

Mr. Bernard was barred for life from the American trotting turf at the Overland meet, Denver, a short time ago. He was expelled on the charge of "pulling" his horse and using abusive language to the judges.

Although no action has been taken by the association, it is confidently believed that he will be reinstated. Presiding Judge Z. G. Stebbing and associates, Dr. J. M. Dunleavy and J. K. Stuart, who were active in having Mr. Bernard expelled, have consented to his reinstatement.

It is contended by the members of the Gentlemen's Riding and Driving club, who have been the prime movers in Mr. Bernard's behalf, that he should not be debarred from entering his horses in the future, since he has apologized for his hasty words to the judges.

BUYING LOTS TO BUILD HOUSES FOR HOMELESS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—James D. Phelan, chairman of the Red Cross and relief fund finance committee, is inspecting lots for building purposes. The idea of those in charge of the relief work is to build homes at once for those who were burned out and Mr. Phelan is to select sites and begin work immediately. The scheme is to sell the houses, which will cost about $1,000, on easy payments and at moderate interest to those who are now living in tents in the public parks.

IRON MAN IN FIGHT

PITTSBURG, July 24.—In a closely played and interesting game Pittsburg today defeated New York 4 to 3. At the end of the fourth inning a fist fight occurred between McGinnity and Peitz. The latter was coaching and made remarks to which the New York pitcher took exception. They were separated by the other players, each with a bloody face. McGinnity was arrested and locked up, but was released on bond and will be given a hearing tomorrow morning. Score:

CHILD, AFRAID OF ROD, HIDES FOR HOURS IN BIG BUREAU DRAWER

Because his father had threatened to "tan" him, the little 9-year-old son of Harry Jones, 318 South El Paso street, ran upstairs and hid himself in a big bureau drawer at 6 o'clock Monday evening. His father and mother searched for him for a half hour, and then asked aid from the police. The neighborhood was searched, but the lad could not be found. Finally he was located in a bureau drawer at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, fast asleep. The boy could not explain how he had almost closed the drawer after he had crawled in it, but said that he did not mind the ten hours of close confinement.

Mr. Jones came home at 6 o'clock Monday and found that his little son had broken a window with a baseball. "Wait till I get my whip, and I will tan you," he said to the lad. While his father was getting the whip, the small boy sought the shelter of a bureau drawer.

Some New Ideas for

Fall and Winter Dress

To be correctly dressed your coat should be made very long, fitting closely to the body between shoulders and hip so as to show the outline of the figure, allowing a liberal flare over seat, side seams should be creased and no vents in coat.

Trousers are medium full and will be worn rolled at bottom. Permanent turn ups are no longer considered proper. Hip trousers will be found to be comfortable.

MOTHER IS ILL; GIRL MISSING

MADGE CAPPS, WAITRESS, IS SAID TO HAVE ELOPED—HER SISTER MUCH WORRIED.

The alleged elopement of Miss Madge Capps, a waitress at the Home Dairy, and George Ward, a cook at Tucker's restaurant, is causing a great deal of trouble for the young lady's family. Miss Grace Capps, of 701 East Boulder street, has been unable to find any trace of her sister since she left here two weeks ago with Ward, and her anxiety was increased yesterday when she received a telegram from relatives in Liberal, Kas., stating that Mrs. Capps is seriously ill and that she wishes to see her daughters at once.

The two Capps girls came to Colorado Springs five months ago from Liberal. They engaged rooms at the home of Miss Amelia Wright, 701 East Boulder street. Grace Capps secured employment at the Cafatera cafe, 7 East Bijou street, and Madge Capps at the Home restaurant, 515 South Tejon street. Ward was then employed as a cook at the Home restaurant. Theirs was a romance of the kitchen, and it ended in their leaving the city together two weeks ago Saturday. The girl did not tell her sister of her intention to leave town, but left a note saying that she would write later.

Mr. Ward returned to Colorado Springs five day ago alone. He secured employment at Tucker's restaurant. Grace Capps says that she asked Ward what he had done with her sister, and that he replied that they had gone to Pueblo where they were married. He refused to say where his wife is now.

Miss Capps received a telegram yesterday from relatives at Liberal, saying that Mrs. Capps is seriously ill and wishes to see her daughters at once. The girl is in a quandry over the message. She is afraid to wire that her sister has eloped for fear that it may cause her mother's death and she dares not return home alone. Miss Capps will probably visit Pueblo today in search of her sister.

MONSTER TRIES TO THROW DEAD BODY OUT OF A WINDOW

NEW YORK, July 24.—Charged with removing the body of his daughter from a coffin and attempting to throw it out of a window, Charles Anderson was called an "inhuman monster" by Magistrate Mliss in police court.

"My only regret," said the magistrate, "is that there is no adequate punishment for the crime. Civilization has never dreamed of such an outrage against decency, and the statutes provide no penalty in keeping with the malignity and horror of your act."

Witnesses said Anderson went to the home of his wife on Park avenue on Sunday when the funeral was being arranged, drove his wife and other mourners out of the place, and then deliberately tried to throw the body of his daughter out of a window. He was sent to the workhouse on default of $500 bail.

QUEER BANKING IN INDIAN TERRITORY

MUSKOGEE, I. T., July 24.—"The Bank" in a small town in Indian Territory, especially where there is but one bank, is simply the bookkeeping department for the community. An observant business man was in the bank at Boynton a few days ago. He says: "While I was there that bank did a good business. There was a constant string of customers, but it was one of most remarkable instances of 'keep the money at home' I ever saw.

"John Smith came in with a check for $100 of Henry Brown. He got his money and placed it on deposit." The banker transferred $100 from the account of Henry Brown to John Jones. Adams came in with a check on Jones and the account was transferred again. That thing kept up all the time I was there.

Out of about a dozen customers all but two had checks which meant simply a transferring of accounts. Only two had cash. One of these drew money out on a check and another brought cash in. And it so happened that the man who brought the money in had been paid a check on the man who carried the money out. There is about so much money in that community, and it is increasing all the time, but that bank is the finest example of a bookkeeping department I ever saw. Like many other banks in the Territory it is making plenty of money.

RAT TRAP IN TROUSERS POCKET CATCHES WIFE

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 24.—Philip Rodney, of Centerville, this county, a prominent business man, discovered that his wife had been obtaining spending money out of his trousers poskets while he swept. He remonstrated with her, but his wife insisted she had a right to the money.

Serious quarrels followed, but Mrs. Rodney kept getting the money. Last night Rodney, determined to break up his wife's practice, got a small, strong rat trap and placed it in his money pocket with the jaws toward the opening.

He was awakened shortly after midnight by his wife's screams, and, jumping out of bed, discovered her hand tightly wedged in the sharp jaws of the steel trap.

The woman begged to be released, but Rodney, she declares, allowed her to suffer for a while before he freed her. Her hand was badly lacerated. Mrs. Rodney left her husband today and took up her residence with her parents. She says she will no longer live with him.

TRIPLE MURDERER IS SENTENCED TO HANG

AUBURN, Cal., July 24.—Adolph Weber, who murdered his father, mother, brother and sister at this place two years ago, in order to obtain possession of the family estate of about $60,000 was brought into court today and sentenced to be hanged at the Folsom penitentiary on September 12. Once before the youth was sentenced to death, but his appeal to the supreme court served as a stay of execution.

TOOK A HOME-MADE TONIC OF SULPHUR

WATERBURY, Conn., July 24.—Acting upon the well-meant advice of a friend, Miss Veronica Shamteta endeavored to take some sulphur as a blood tonic by scraping the heads of several boxes of matches into water.

After taking a teaspoonful before breakfast and one immediately after the young girl became violently ill, and although Dr. Lopes with three assistants brought into violent use the stomach pump and emetics she is reported in a serious condition, the poison having entered her system.

GIRL HAD 40 SUITORS; HAS SUITE IN PRISON

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—Forty men have been paying court to mysterious Bessie Dale, according to letters found in the room of Mrs. Ross Vinton, who, with her husband, was arrested in North Fifteenth street. The forty men have been taking her to places of amusement, spending money for her entertainment, each of them in the belief that he was going to marry her and each thinking himself the one and only object of her undying affection.

Some of her letters indicate that the writers had advanced money to the object of their love in an effort to help her out of some mysterious trouble. According to the dates of the letters the deception was carried on for nearly a year. The letters are all addressed to Miss Bessie Dale.

THE Relation of Hay Fever and Asthma to Consumption

About five years ago a patient came here with hay fever expecting to get over it very soon. In this case the hay fever had come on every year for several years and leave when the cold weather and frost appeared in the fall, but for a year before coming here the cough which had been increasing each year, continued after the cold weather set in. She was advised to come to us by a patient that we had cured of a similar trouble, and when we made the examination we found what we feared, that tuberculosis had been engrafted upon the condition of the lungs that was due to very severe and prolonged attacks of hay fever. The tubercular deposit accounted for the continued cough; also for the loss of weight and fever with chills. The difficulty in breathing that is always present with hay fever weakens the lungs seriously and often leaves them in such a condition that while the patient is reduced from the attack of hay fever and the vitality is low, the baccili find a lodgment in some especially tender spot in the lung. In that case the patient's condition will assume the appearance of a consumptive and they can not understand why they do not recover from hay fever as others do. This is also the case with those who come here with asthma that is complicated with consumption. These cases sometimes get well enough so that they can live in this climate with comparative comfort, but never, or at least very seldom, recover from the curative effects of the climate alone so that they can live in a low altitude. These are cases that yield easily and quickly to the Shepard Treatment if the tubercular disease has not gone too far. They can all be helped, and by following the treatment faithfully, can, in many cases, be cured. In these cases the treatment heals the mucous surfaces of the air-passages of the head and throat and lungs and so controls the catarrhal discharges, making it possible for the patient to breathe more freely, taking in, not only with each treatment, but all the time, increased amounts of oxygen, thus enriching the blood and very soon so increasing the strength that nature itself can aid in the cure. These are cases in which the climate needs just the right kind of help, and the help that this treatment gives enables the patient to complete their recovery in their own homes. This is the strong and valuable feature of the Shepard Treatment. Those cured live in their own homes with perfect comfort and health. The patient referred to above is one of those who were cured, and a letter from her today led me to speak of the combination of hay fever and asthma with consumption which so often fail to improve in this or any other climate, but which can be cured by this treatment.

EVENTS IN RUSSIA.

"It is already certain that some consternation exists in the upper spheres over the magnitude of the task they have assumed," says a dispatch from St. Petersburg. "Having decided to sit on the safety valve, the government knows of no method except force, and all of the old bureaucratic machinery of suppression has been placed in operation to prevent an explosion." And even this is an utter failure. In spite of the solemn assurances that no return to former methods was contemplated, it is plain that the government must adopt those methods if it is to succeed even for a little time in postponing its fall.

Late dispatches declare that the censorship of the press has been re-established more vigorously than since the days of von Plehve, houses are searched and hundreds of persons thrown into prison on suspicion. But severe as these measures are, they are already marked by failure. Monday night Cossack soldiers sent to disperse two revolutionary meetings openly refused to obey orders and then fraternized with the mob. This indicates that there is some truth in the assertions of the liberals that the government can no longer depend on the military to take sides against the people. The revolutionary propaganda in the army has been carried on quietly and insidiously, and, it seems, effectively. The next step is a proclamation appealing to the soldiers to make common cause with their countrymen, and if this is heeded the end of the Russian autocracy is at hand.

The Czar's actions during the last month, and particularly during the last three or four days, confirm all that has been said about his weakness and stupidity. He had a chance to conciliate parliament by retiring the objectionable Goremykin ministry and appointing another in its stead. It is said that the ministry was only too glad of the chance to shift its burden, but Nicholas, fearful of the consequences of a change, refused to permit the members to resign. Next, he yielded to his ever-present evil genius, the reactionary advisers with whom he is surrounded, and issued the ukase proroguing parliament.

It is hard to realize the stupendous folly of this act, and certainly nobody but a madman of a fool could have committed it. If the Czar was familiar with the condition of his country and people and gifted with ordinary common sense he must have known that it would certainly provoke a bloody revolution. He must have known too that the government has not one chance in a hundred of winning in such a contest, for it is bankrupt and the army is disloyal. With a well filled treasury and a strong, dependable military force it could snap its fingers at the people, but it has neither. Apparently nothing can avert the final struggle for the mastery. The government has thrown down the gauntlet and challenged the people to fight. The mere fact that the leaders of the dissolved parliament have counseled moderation on the part of their followers is of no significance, for when the news of the events of the last four days becomes known throughout the empire the people are very likely to disregard all such advice, no matter from what source it comes.

The leaders of the Douma have doubtless taken the correct view in saying, in their manifesto, that the promise of another national assembly seven months hence is of no value, because if the government succeeds in suppressing the popular movement it will convoke no assembly at all. The entire military and civil power is now being exerted to suppress this movement, and it is hardly to be supposed that once suppressed, the government would allow itself to bring about conditions which would result in the same way. It is clear that if the Russian people are to get any concessions worth having they will have to fight for them.

DENVER'S WORST AFFICTION.

About a year ago William E. Curtis, the correspondent, who was then writing a series of letters on Colorado, said that Denver's bad reputation throughout the East is due primarily to its newspapers. Mr. Curtis made no distinction. All of them, he thought, were too sensational for their own good and for the good of the city. "If a man happens to step off the curb into the gutter and wrench his ankle," said Mr. Curtis, "the newspapers make it appear that he has fallen into a yawning chasm. If a servant girl inherits two or three thousand dollars from an uncle who has made a little money mining, they surround the affair with the glamour of romance; the miner is described as a Croesus, or a 'mining king,' and the girl as a beautiful heiress to a vast fortune."

Mr. Curtis remarked that the Denver newspapers seemed to think they were fooling the public, but that as a matter of fact they fooled nobody but themselves. Readers had learned to accept every item of news at their own valuation, not at the valuation the papers placed on it, and thus everything was discounted. The people knew that certain allowances must be made for exaggeration or misrepresentation due to the love of sensationalism, or, in the case of political articles, to self interest.

The letter in which these comments appeared was printed in several of the most influential papers in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, and doubtless had a good effect in correcting some of the false impressions of Denver and of Colorado prevailing at that time. During the Cripple Creek labor troubles, the political campaign of 1904, and the gubernatorial contest in the legislature, the Denver newspapers kept the country deluged with the most flagrant falsifications, and to this was largely due the adverse criticism heaped upon the state at that time, and it was to this that Mr. Curtis referred when he spoke of Denver's bad reputation in the East.

His comments are as true now as they were then. Fifteen minutes' perusal of any of the four Denver daily papers is enough to put one in a pessimistic mood for the remainder of the day. To begin with, there is the never-ending political fight. It isn't about any one thing in particular; one week the topic may be the granting of franchises, another the decision of some court, and if definite subjects are lacking the mud batteries are kept in action on general principles. It is hard to say which of the four is the worst offender against decency. Only one of them owns up to the charge of being yellow and venal, but in neither respect is it worse than its rivals. Another prides itself on its "respectability," but it is merely dull. The other two are filled every day from first page to last with the nauseating political demagogery of their owner. All of them are yellow, sensational and notoriously untruthful. One of them is generally believed to subsist largely on blackmail, and another on subsidy. Truly, it is a delectable bunch of journals that profess to mould the public opinion of Denver.

For four days last week there was a lull in the chorus of crimination and recrimination, charge and counter charge. The Elks convention was in town and for once the papers devoted the large share of their space hitherto wasted on political squabbling to legitimate news. But the very day the convention adjourned the old fight was resumed just where it had been left off, and they are still at it. They will keep at it for nobody knows how much longer, always with the mistaken idea that they are fooling the public. For the sake of Denver's good name it is a pity that the papers there can not be brought to realize the utter senselessness of their policy, for they are the worst affliction the city has to endure.

STILL MORE IMMIGRANTS.

Reports from Washington show that during the fiscal year ended June 30, last, 1,062,054 immigrants arrived at Ellis Island, New York, which was 35,000 more than arrived at all of the ports in the country during the previous year. The estimate for the total number of immigrants arriving last year is 1,250,000, or about a quarter of a million more than ever came before in any one year. Of the total arrivals at Ellis Island, 222,606 were Italians, and most of the others were also from Southern Europe.

Some of these days the people of the United States will wake up to the fact that it is an exceedingly dangerous thing to admit these hordes of ignorant, poverty-stricken, low-class foreigners, an astonishing large proportion of whom are also vicious and diseased. During the last session of Congress an attempt was made to pass an immigration bill which would produce some beneficial effect, but as finally enacted the law is of little value. The great steamship companies, which benefit most from the immigration business, were, and always have been, strong enough in Congress to head off any legislation inimical to their interests.

It is interesting to note a comment made in a recent report on this subject. It is as follows:

"Still, the foreign born show a greater tendency toward pauperism than is shown by native born Americans, and this appears to be a consequence of that undeveloped intelligence which is especially noted among the Mediterranean immigrants, and prevents their engaging in any but callings which are already well supplied. Most of the aliens who are now in our asylums for the poor have been laborers and servants; indeed three-fourths of the women paupers have been domestics."

It is not exactly encouraging to read this in connection with the figures showing the tremendous number of Italians coming to our shores every year. The United States is a great nation, great in resources and great in area, but it is not resourceful enough or big enough to continue indefinitely this process of assimilating a million or more degraded foreigners each year. With the annual increase from immigration equalling, or even exceeding the natural increase how long will it be before the term "Anglo-Saxon people," as applied to Americans becomes an absolute misnomer?

Now a lot of the late Russell Sage's distant relations are preparing to contest his will. They don't know whether or not the will contains any provision for them, and they're not sure that they have any just claim on the dead millionaire's fortune, but of one thing they are quite certain—they need the money.

If the Czar ever expects to take that projected cruise in the Baltic for now is the time to start. Tomorrow he may be playing the star part in a bomb outrage.

Henry Phipps' expenditure of $500,000 a year for the use of a deer park in Scotland comes about as near a sensible use of money as a Pittsburg millionaire ever gets.

MOTHER HUBBARD COATS IN MISSOURI.

From the Fulton (Mo.) Statesman.

It is a distinct sign of degeneration among Missouri statesmen that David A. Ball of Pike County has begun to wear a sack suit. Time was when Senator Ball would not have thought he was dressed without the stately Prince Albert. "No man," said Senator Ball, "can count himself well dressed except he has a Prince Albert coat." He may not wear a silk hat, but the coat he must have. But I am out of politics for myself now," he went on, "and I am dressing to please my family and friends. I still hold to the belief in the Prince Albert, even though I have got doomed to the sack." Time was when "Dave" Ball, as his familiars call him, was the best dresser in the state. But now he is no longer in the statesman business; he is getting rich fast, he is sticking to his law practice, and he wears a sack coat. There are many signs of progress in this imperial state of Missouri. There is only an occasional sign of retrogression. The sack suit of Senator Ball is in this class.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Friday, 25th July.—We embarked at half past six o'clock, and arrived at the entrance of the Gasconade river at half-past eight o'clock, at which place I determined to stay the day, as my Indians and foot people were yet in the rear, and had complained of being without shoes, leggings, &c. Distance advanced, five miles.

One of our Pawnees did not arrive until late, the other had communicated his suspicion to me, that the Otto, who was in company, had killed him; he acknowledged that he had proposed to him to take out their baggage, and return to St. Louis. The real occasion of his absence, however, was his having followed a large fresh trail up the Gasconade a considerable distance, but finding it lead from the Missouri he examined it, and discovered horses to have been upon it; he then left it, joined ours and came in.

This being generally the route taken by the Potowatomies when they go to war against the Osage, it occasioned some alarm. Every morning we were awakened by the mourning of the savages, who commenced crying about daylight, and continued their lamentation for the space of an hour. I made enquiry of my interpreter with respect to this practice, and was informed that it was a custom not only with those who had recently lost their relatives; but also with others, who recalled to mind the loss of some friend, dead long since, who joined the mourners purely from sympathy. They appeared extremely affected, tears ran down their cheeks, and they sobbed bitterly; but in a moment they dry their cheeks and cease their cries. Their songs of grief generally ran thus: "My dear father exists no longer, have pity on me, oh Great Spirit, you see I cry for ever; dry my tears and give me comfort." The warriors' songs are to the following effect: "Our enemies have slain my father, (or mother) he is lost to me and his family; I pray to you, oh Master of Life, to preserve me until I revenge his death, and then do with me as Thou pleasest."

From La Charrette to the Gasconade river, you find on the north low land heavily timbered; on the south, hills, rivulets, and a number of small creeks, with very high cane. The Gasconade is two hundred yards wide at its entrance, and is navigable at certain seasons a hundred miles. At this time it was backed by the Mississippi, but was clear and transparent above the confluence. On the shore opposite to their junction, commences the line between the Sac Indians and the United States.

Press Opinions

A DOUBLE PROPHECY.

From the New York World.

Said the New York Sun on Saturday:

"The Sun craves permission to present its humble service to the supreme powers at Oyster Bay, to Messrs. Platt and Depew, to the new and austere hierarchy of Odell and associates, to one Frank Wayland Higgins, the putative governor of the state of New York, and to all the sober-minded and self-respecting Republicans to whose confidence it can appeal, and with all deference and respect submits:

"The next governor of the state of New York will be a Democrat.

"The next governor of the state of New York will be the next president of the United States."

The next president of the United Staes will not be a Democrat.

A SHOW OF SKELETONS.

From the Washington Post:

As Sir Lucius O'Trigger would say, the situation is a very pretty one as it is, and the American people would dislike to see it spoiled. As an independent and immensely amused spectator, The Washington Post insists that it shall not be spoiled, and, therefore, we want to know, right now, what Mr. William Jennings Bryan means by that remark at the American Society's dinner in London, Wednesday, about this country going "on one leg," and the insinuation that it would go better on two legs. Mr. Whitelaw Reid had said something about gold; we infer that Mr. Bryan was thinking about silver.

We lay down this proposition as basic, as fundamental, that the closet is the place for a skeleton, especially for a skeleton that is thoroughly and completely dead in every particular as this 16-to-1 skeleton admits it is. The thing is too dead to grin, and of too unpleasant a memory to go on dress parade.

Our advice is to the Democratic party, and a lovable and delightful old customer it is, with all its propensity for making spectacular exhibitions of skeletons—our advice to the Democratic party is to let the Republican party produce its skeletons this time. There is no difficulty about it—if Mr. Bryan will only yield the stage. And here we may remark that the G. O. P. understands and is profoundly impressed with the fact that the closet is the place for a skeleton, a lesson the Democratic party must learn if it would thrive.

The Republican party has an enormous skeleton on its hands, and would gladly confine it to the obscurest and darkest closet in the house; but the thing insists that it is alive, and threatens to sue out a writ of habeas corpus, to the end that it may be enlarged and have opportunity to exploit itself in public. Need we say that this particular and animated skeleton is tariff revision? And just now it is cutting capers and shines out in Iowa and over in Massachusetts.

But there is no chance for this frisky skeleton if Mr. Bryan shall insist on keeping his dead-and-done-for skeleton before the public gaze. The country intends to confine that particular skeleton to the limbo of oblivion and annihilation before it takes a whack at the varied assortment of skeletons the G. O. P. has in the house and that are clamorous for parts in the show.

If we were in Mr. Bryan's confidence we would ask him to please not to kick the bucket over while the cow is giving down her milk so bountifully. But let the show proceed, if we must have skeletons that are dead.

BEET FIELDS LOOK FINE.

From the La Junta Democrat.

C. J. Sloen, the agriculturist for the Holly Construction company, reports that the beet fields at the present time look very fine, and are somewhat ahead of the crop at this time last season. Reports from the Holbrook district are very flattering indeed. Insects reported in some localities, although that difficulty is being overcome by spraying.

RESERVOIR ABOUT COMPLETED.

From the Paonia Gazette.

In three weeks the Lone Cabin reservoir will be completed. Water is already in, which will be used on the upper part of German mesa, bringing much new land under water. This land is very fine for fruit, being the famous "sage brush and cedar" soil, which produces such fine fruit.

MINING CAMP PROSPERS.

From the Eldora Record.

The present condition of the camp is much better than even the most sanguine had hoped for. While the season has been more backward than usual, and the new work has been somewhat delayed thereby, yet the work inaugurated has been of the most permanent and substantial character. Four plants of machinery of the latest and most improved make have in the past two months been added to the equipment of the camp. In addition to the work already inaugurated much more is now in progress.

The Prisoner of Zenda

Being the History of Three Months in the Life of an English Gentleman

By ANTHONY HOPE.

As soon as we reached the Ruritanian frontier (where the old officer who presided over the custom house favored me with such a stare that I felt surer than before of my Elphberg physiognomy) I bought the papers, and found in them news which affected my movements. For some reason, which was not clearly explained and seemed to be a thing of a mystery, the date of the coronation had been suddenly advanced, and the ceremony was to take place on the next day but one. The whole country seemed in a stir about it, and it was evident that Strelsau was thronged. Rooms were all let and hotels overflowing; there would be very little chance of my obtaining a lodging, and I should certainly have to pay an exorbitant charge for it. I made up my mind to stop at Zenda, a small town fifty miles short of the capital, and about ten from the frontier. My train reached there in the evening; I would spend the next day, Tuesday, in a wander over the hills, which were said to be very fine, and in taking a glance at the famous castle, and go over by train to Strelsau on the Wednesday morning, returning at night to sleep at Zenda.

Accordingly at Zenda I got out, and as the train passed where I stood on the platform, I saw my friend Mme. de Mauban in her place; clearly she was going through to Strelsau, having, with more providence than I could boast, secured apartments there. I smiled to think how surprised George Featherly would have been to know that she and I had been fellow-travelers for so long.

I was very kindly received at the hotel—it was really no more than an inn—kept by a fat old lady and her two daughters. They were good, quiet people, and seemed very little interested in the great doings at Strelsau. The old lady's hero was the duke, for he was now, under the late king's will, master of the Zenda estates and of the castle, which rose grandly on its steep hill at the end of the valley, a mile or so from the inn. The old lady, indeed, did not hesitate to express her regret that the duke was not on the throne instead of his brother.

"We know Duke Michael," said she. "He has always lived among us; every Ruritanian knows Duke Michael. But the king is almost a stranger; he has been so much abroad not one in ten knows him even by sight."

"And now," chimed in one of the young women, "they say he has shaved off his beard, so that no one at all knows him."

"Shaved his beard!" exclaimed her mother. "Who says so?"

"Johann, the duke's keeper. He has seen the king."

"Ah, yes! The king, sir, is now at the duke's shooting lodge in the forest here; from here he goes to Strelsau to be crowned on Wednesday morning."

I was interested to hear this and made up my mind to walk next day in the direction of the lodge on the chance of coming across the king. The old lady ran on garrulously.

"Ah! and I wish he would stay at his shooting—that and wine (and one thing more) are all he loves, they say—and suffer our duke to be crowned on Wednesday. That I wish, and I don't care who knows it."

"Hush, mother!" urged the daughters.

"Oh, there's many to think as I do!" cried the old woman stubbornly.

I threw myself back in my deep arm-chair and laughed at her zeal.

"For my part," said the younger and prettier of the two daughters, a fair, buxom, smiling wench, "I hate Black Michael! A red Elphberg for me, mother! The king, they say, is as red as a fox or as——"

And she laughed mischievously as she cast a glance at me, and tossed her head at her sister's reproving face.

"Many a man has cursed this red hair before now," muttered the old lady—and I remembered James, fifth Earl of Burlesdon.

"But never a woman!" cried the girl.

"Ay, and women, when it was too late," was the stern answer, reducing the girl to silence and blushes.

"How comes the king here?" I asked, to break an embarrassed silence. "It is the duke's land here, you say."

"The duke invited him, sir, to rest here till Wednesday. The duke is at Strelsau, preparing the king's reception."

"Then they're friends?"

"None better," said the old lady.

But my rosy damsel tossed her head again; she was not to be repressed for long, and she broke out again:

"Aye, they love one another as men do who want the same place and the same wife!"

The old woman glowered; but the last words pricked my curiosity, and I interposed before she could begin scolding:

"What, the same wife, too! How's that, young lady?"

"All the world knows that Black Michael—well, then, mother, the duke—would give his soul to marry his cousin, the Princess Flavia, and that she is to be the queen."

"Upon my word," said I, "I begin to be sorry for your duke. But if a man will be a younger son, why, he must take what the elder leaves, and be as thankful to God as he can;" and, thinking of myself, I shrugged my shoulders and laughed. And then I thought also of Antoinette de Mauban and her journey to Strelsau.

"It's little dealing Black Michael has with——" began the girl, braving her mother's anger; but as she spoke a heavy step sounded on the floor, and a gruff voice asked in a threatening tone:

The girl gave a little shriek, half of fright—half, I think, of amusement.

"You'll not tell of me, Johann?" she said.

"See where your chatter leads," said the old lady.

The man who had spoken came forward.

"We have company, Johann," said my hostess, and the fellow plucked off his cap. A moment later he saw me, and to my amazement he started back a step, as though he had seen something wonderful.

"What ails you, Johann?" asked the elder girl. "This is a gentleman on his travels, come to see the coronation."

The man had recovered himself, but he was staring at me with an intense, searching, almost fierce glance.

"Good evening to you," said I.

"Good evening, sir" he muttered, still scrutinizing me, and the merry girl began to laugh as she called:

"See, Johann, it is the color you love! He started to see your hair, sir. It's not the color we see most of here in Zenda."

"I crave your pardon, sir," stammered the fellow, with puzzled eyes. "I expected to see no one."

"Give him a glass to drink my health in; and I'll bid you good-night, and thanks to you, ladies, for your courtesy and pleasant conversation."

So speaking, I rose to my feet and with a slight bow turned to the door. The young girl ran to light me on the way, and the man fell back to let me pass, his eyes still fixed on me. The moment I was by he started a step forward, asking:

"Pray, sir, do you know our king?"

"I never saw him," said I. "I hope to do so on Wednesday."

He said no more, but I felt his eyes following me till the door closed behind me. My saucy conductor, looking over her shoulder at me as she preceded me upstairs, said:

"There's no pleasing Master Johann for one of your color, sir."

"He prefers yours maybe?" I suggested.

"I meant, sir, in a man," she answered, with a coquettish glance.

"What," asked I, taking hold of the other side of the candlestick, "does color matter in a man?"

"Nay, but I love yours—it's the Elphberg red."

"Color in a man," said I, "is a matter of no more moment than that!" and I gave her something of no value.

"God send the kitchen door be shut!" said she.

"Amen!" said I, and left her.

CHAPTER III.

A Merry Evening With a Distant Relative.

I was not so unreasonable as to be prejudiced against the duke's keeper because he disliked my complexion; and if I had been, his most civil and obliging conduct (as it seemed to me to be) next morning would have disarmed me. Hearing that I was bound for Strelsau, he came to see me while I was breakfasting, and told me that a sister of his, who had married a well-to-do tradesman and lived in the capital, had invited him to occupy a room in her house. He gladly accepted, but now found that his duties would not permit of his absence. He begged therefore, that if such humble (though, as he added, clean and comfortable) lodgings would satisfy me I would take his place. He pledged his sister's acquiescence, and urged the inconvenience and crowding to which I should be subject in my journeys to and from Strelsau the next day. I accepted his offer without a moment's hesitation, and he went off to telegraph to his sister, while I packed up and prepared to take the next train. But I still hankered after the forest and the shooting lodge, and when my little maid told me that I could, by walking ten miles or so through the forest, hit the railway station, I decided to send my luggage direct to the address which Johann had given, take my walk, and follow to Strelsau myself. Johann had gone off and was not aware of the change in my plans; but as its only effect was to delay my arrival at his sister's for a few hours, it was no reason for troubling to inform him of it. Doubtless the good lady would waste no anxiety on my account.

I took an early luncheon, and having bidden my kind entertainers farewell, promising to return to them on my way home, I set out to climb the hill that led to the castle, and thence to the forest of Zenda. Half an hour's leisurely walking brought me to the castle. It had been a fortress in old days, and the ancient keep was still in good preservation and very imposing. Behind it stood another portion of the original castle, and behind that again, and separated from it by a deep and broad moat, which ran all round the old building, was a handsome modern chateau, erected by the last king, and now forming the country residence of the Duke of Strelsau. The old and the new portions were connected by a drawbridge, and this indirect mode of access formed the only passage between the old building and the outer world; but leading to the modern chateau there was a broad and handsome avenue. It was an ideal residence; when "Black Michael" desired company he could dwell in his chateau; if a fit of misanthropy seized him he had merely to cross the bridge and draw it up after him (it ran on rollers), and nothing short of a regiment and a train of artillery could fetch him out. I went on my way, glad that poor Black Michael, though he could not have the throne of the princess, had at least got as fine a residence as any prince in Europe.

Soon I entered the forest, and walked on for an hour or more in its cool, somber shade. The great trees enlaced with one another over my head, and the sunshine stole through in patches as bright as diamonds, and hardly bigger. I was enchanted with the place, and finding a felled tree trunk, propped my back against it, and stretched my legs out, gave myself up to undisturbed contemplation of the solemn beauty of the woods and to the comfort of a good cigar. And when the cigar was finished, and I had (I suppose) inhaled as much beauty as I could, I went off into the most delightful sleep, regardless of my train to Strelsau and of the fast-waning afternoon. To remember a train in such a spot would have been rank sacrilege. Instead of that I fell to dreaming that I was married to the Princess Flavia and dwelt in the castle of Zenda, and beguiled whole days with my love in the glades of the forest. In fact, I was just impressing a fervent kiss on the charming lips of the princess when I heard (and the voice seemed at first a part of the dream) someone exclaim in rough, strident tones:

"Why, the devil's in it! Shave him and he'd be the king!"

The idea seemed whimsical enough for a dream; but the sacrifice of my heavy mustache and carefully pointed imperial I was to be transformed into a monarch! I was about to kiss the princess again when I arrived (very reluctantly) at the conclusion that I was awake.

I opened my eyes, and found two men regarding me with much curiosity. Both were shooting costumes and carried guns. One was rather short and very stoutly built, with a big bullet-shaped head, a bristly gray mustache, and small, pale-blue eyes, a trifle bloodshot. The other was a slender young fellow, of middle height, dark in complexion, and bearing himself with grace and distinction. I set the one down as an old soldier; the other for a gentleman accustomed to move in good society, but not unused to military life either. It turned out afterward that my guess was a good one.

The elder man approached me, beckoning the younger fellow. He did so, courteously raising his hat. I rose to my feet.

"He's the height, too!" I heard the elder murmur as he surveyed my six feet two inches of stature. Then, with a cavalier touch of the cap, he addressed me:

"May I ask your name?"

"As you have taken the first step in the acquaintance, gentlemen," said I, with a smile, "suppose you give me a lead in the matter of names."

The younger man stepped forward with a pleasant smile.

"This," said he, "is Colonel Sapt, and I am called Fritz von Tarlenheim; we are both in the service of the King of Ruritania."

I bowed and, baring my head, answered:

"I am Rudolf Rassendyll. I am a traveler from England; and once for a year or two I held a commission from her Majesty the Queen."

"Then we are all brethren of the sword," answered Tarlenheim, holding out his hand, which I took readily.

"Rassendyll, Rassendyll!" muttered Colonel Sapt; then a gleam of intelligence flitted across his face.

"By Heaven!" he cried, "you're of the Burlesdons?"

"My brother is now Lord Burlesdon," said I.

"Thy head betrayeth three," he chuckled, pointing to my uncovered poll. "Why, Fritz, you know the story?"

The young man glanced apologetically at me. He felt a delicacy which my sister-in-law would have admired. To put him at his ease I remarked, with a smile:

"Ah! the story is known here as well as among us, it seems."

"Known!" cried Sapt. "If you stay here the deuce a man in all Ruritania will doubt of it—or a woman either."

I began to feel uncomfortable. Had I realized what a very plainly written pedigree I carried about with me, I should have thought long before I visited Ruritania. However, I was in for it now.

At this moment a ringing voice sounded from the wood behind us:

"Fritz, Fritz, where are you, man?"

Tarlenheim started, and said hastily:

"It's the king!"

Old Sapt chuckled again.

Then a young man jumped out from behind the trunk of a tree and stood beside us. As I looked on him I uttered an astonished cry; and he, seeing me, drew back in sudden wonder. Saving the hair on my face and a manner of conscious dignity which his position gave him, saving also that he lacked perhaps half an inch—nay, less than that, but still something—of my height, the King of Ruritania might have been Rudolf Rassendyll, and I Rudolf the king.

DOOM OF DINING IN FRANCE.

People can always be found to denounce the cooking in the English home. It has passed into tradition that good cooking is only to be found in France; yet a writer in the Paris Figaro has suddenly risen up to shake this tradition to its foundation. French people no longer dine, he complains. From 7 o'clock the dinner hour has been pushed on to half-past 8, and how can anyone dine in less than an hour and a half? Hurry, after all, is what distinguishes mere food from dinner. Besides this, though, the same writer has discovered a far more serious cause of the decline of dining. Everybody, he says, is bound by some regime or another, with the result that nobody really dines any longer, except the doctors themselves. These "dineurs d'hopital," as he wittily calls the advocates of the simple life, have doomed the art of dining!

EXTRAORDINARY SIGHT OF BIRDS

A hawk can spy a lark upon a piece of earth almost exactly the same color at twenty times the distance it is perceptible to a man or dog. A kite soaring out of human sight can still distinguish and pounce upon lizards and field mice on the ground, and the distance at which vultures and eagles can spy their prey is almost incredible. Recent discoveries have inclined naturalists to the belief that birds of prey here have not the acute sense of smell with which they were once accredited. Their acute sight seems better to account for their actions, and they appear to be guided by sight alone, as they never sniff at anything, but dart straight at the object of their desire.

A DOG MARKET.

The Vienna Fancy Dog club has established a novel dog market. Persons with dogs for sale are invited to send the animals to the club rooms every Wednesday, where they will be exhibited. Each animal will be examined by a veterinary surgeon and also appraised by experts. Purchasers can therefore be assured that the dogs are quite free from disease, and also worth the price demanded. And all this advice will be performed entirely free of charge; neither buyer nor seller will be asked to contribute a penny. The club will bear all the expense, as its only object in instituting the market is to promote the breeding and traffic in dogs of good

STATE REUNION OF PHILLIPPINE VETERANS TO OPEN SATURDAY

Three Hundred Delegates Are Expected to Attend Annual Event---Local Society Announces Program of Business and Entertainment.

Everything is now in readiness for the seventh annual state reunion of the Society of the Army of the Philippines which will be held in Colorado Springs on Saturday and Sunday, July 28 and 29. At this time at least 300 delegates will be the guests of Henry W. Lawton camp No. 2. Nothing will be left undone by the local camp to show the visitors a royal time. Following is the official program:

Saturday, July 28.

10:30 a. m.—Arrival of the delegation from John S. Stuart camp No. 1, Denver, at the Colorado & Southern depot, arrival of delegates from Cripple Creek, Victor, Leadville, Telluride and Pueblo.

THOMAS E. LINN.

Of Colorado Springs, Who is State Commander of the Society of the Army of the Philippines and Commander of Camp Henry W. Lawton No. 2 of This City.

8 p. m.—Entertainment in honor of visiting delegates.

9 p. m.—Business session.

Sunday, July 29.

Morning—Sightseeing.

Afternoon—Special concert at Stratton park by the Colorado Midland band.

Evening—Adjournment of reunion.

At the business session, Saturday night, at a place yet to be selected, the national encampment, which is to be held at Des Moines, August 12 to 14 inclusive, will be discussed and arrangements made for the representation of the Colorado department. The number of delegates is not limited and it is expected that Colorado Springs will be well represented. Other important business will also be disposed of.

At least 150 veterans of the society of the Army of the Philippines are expected in Colorado Springs from Denver. The local members have made extensive preparations for their entertainment, and Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning will be spent in visiting the canons, the Garden of the Gods, Manitou, Pike's Peak and other points of interest in the Pike's Peak region.

Following are the committees in charge of the reunion: ways and means—Mr. Vance, R. M. Adams and Tom Linn; reception and entertainment—Thomas Linn, Roy Adams and J. F. Neff.

All the members of the Society of the Army of the Philippines are soldiers who served in the Eighth army corps in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war. Thomas Linn, of the local Henry W. Lawton camp No. 2, is state commander.

At the close of the business session Saturday night, a dance will be given

SKAGGS CHARGED WITH DISTRUBANCE

STOCKBRIDGE SAYS CONDUCTOR CURSED HIM FOR REFUSING TO PAY TWO FARES.

As the result of an alleged attempt to collect two fares between Colorado City and Manitou from H. G. Stockbridge, J. S. Skaggs, a conductor in the employ of the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company, will be tried tomorrow before Judge O. R. Dunnington on the charge of disturbance.

Stockbridge alleges that he boarded a west-bound car in Colorado City yesterday morning. He says that just after he boarded the car, the conductor collected five cents and that between Colorado City and Manitou the conductor asked him for five cents more. An argument ensued in which, Stockbridge alleges, the conductor cursed him in a loud voice.

Stockbridge returned to this city and had the conductor arrested on a charge of disturbance. Skaggs was released under bond furnished by John Henry, assistant superintendent of the railway company.

COMPANY I. TO LEAVE SUNDAY

WILL GO TO GOLDEN FOR A WEEK'S ENCAMPMENT AND TAKE PART IN TWO SHOOTS.

Company I, of the Colorado State National guard, will leave Colorado Springs Sunday for a week's encampment at Golden, where representatives from the company will participate in the annual national guard competitive shoot and the first annual meet of the Colorado State Rifle association. Second Lieutenant Page will have charge of the company, as Captain Barber will be unable to leave Sunday. This will be the company's first encampment since 1901.

The Colorado State Rifle association meet will be held on August 2 and 3, while the national guard shoot will occur on August 4 and 5. Company I will be represented in both contests. Last year this company finished fourth in all events. Each organization in the national guard will probably compete next week.

The prizes for the national guard shoot are as follows: the Wilcox trophy for slow fire at 200, 300 and 600 yards; the General Buckley Wells trophy for rapid fire at 200 and 300 yards, and one skirmish run. The team making the highest average will be declared the winner.

MISS CARPENTER, VOCALIST, HERE

WILL MAKE DEBUT IN GRAND OPERA AT DRESDEN, GERMANY, NEXT YEAR.

Miss Susie Corteccia Carpenter, a New York vocalist who is to make her debut in grand opera at Dresden, Germany, in 1907, is spending a month at the Antlers. Miss Carpenter has just completed two years' work in London and New York, her instructor being Theodore Habelman. Mr. Habelman, who has brought out some of the most noted singers in grand opera, says that Miss Carpenter has before her a great career as a coloratura singer in the leading roles in grand opera.

Miss Carpenter was well known throughout Colorado in her dramatic work when she was only 16 years old, being then a student in one of the schools in Denver. She is accompanied by her mother, on her western trip.

STRATTON ESTATE HAS EARNED $1,339,718.54

Since the death of the late W. S. Stratton, September 14, 1902, the Stratton estate has earned $1,339,718.54. This information was brought out yesterday morning during the trial of the state inheritance suit against the estate in the county court. The case was not finished last night, but probably will be concluded today.

WEALTHY CANON CITY MAN BUYS HOME HERE

A deal has been closed by the new Sun Realty company, whereby E. D. Bond, of Canon City, becomes the owner of the modern 10-room residence, 815 North Weber street. The property was formerly owned by Mrs. L. M. Burkholder. The consideration was $7,500.

Mr. Bond is a member of the firm of Weaver & Bond, of Canon City, owners of one of the largest department stores in that city. He is also a wealthy sheepman, and is well known by stockmen of the state. He bought the property with a view to locating in Colorado Springs, and will move his family here immediately.

LONG ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY

SEEKS RE-ELECTION AS COUNTY COMMISSIONER.—GREENWAY IS ALSO IN THE RACE.

Because he thinks that he was "robbed" of the nomination four years ago by machine methods, Sebastian Greenway, of 733 North Corona street, will refuse to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner, but announces that he will be an independent candidate for the office.

"I don't believe in primaries," said Mr. Greenway yesterday. "Four years ago I went into the Republican nominating convention seeking to be nominated for county commissioner. When I went into the convention room, 96 of the 160 delegates were pledged to my support, but the convention wasn't run on the square and Long beat me. I am not going to take any more chances with such kind of business, and will run as an independent candidate for county commissioner this fall. I have always been a Republican. I cast my first vote for Abraham Lincoln, and have always voted the Republican ticket from that time on. But I do not believe in this primary business."

Charles W. Long, who lives ten miles north of Colorado Springs, and who is the out-going commissioner, announced yesterday that he would again be a candidate for re-election.

The race for the office is now a three-cornered affair. B. A. Banta, of Bijou Basin, announced his candidacy two weeks ago and announcement of the candidacy of Long and Mr. Greenway are made for the first time this morning. Mr. Greenway is a former county commissioner and Mr. Long is the present incumbent.

WILLIAMS FOR CONGRESS.

JACKSON, Miss., July 24.—The Democratic executive committee of the eighth district today formally declared John Sharp Williams the party candidate for congress from that district.

EL PASO COUNTY VETERANS ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

Is Branch of Newly-Organized State Body, Whose Object Is "To Procure the Political Advancement of Its Members" in Colorado.

G. A. R. and Spanish war veterans, to the number of about 35, met in the G. A. R. hall last night and organized the El Paso County Veterans association as a branch of the Veterans Association of Colorado, which organization was perfected in Denver on July 12.

Officers were elected as follows: Post Commander L. M. Heiner, chairman; Captain C. C. Spicer, secretary and treasurer.

Department Commander L. C. Dana was chosen to represent the society at the meeting of the state organization, to be held in Denver Thursday afternoon of this week. A second meeting of the local branch will be held next Tuesday evening.

The object of the association is the advancement of the political interests of its members. All former soldiers and sailors of the United States, their wives, children and friends, are eligible to membership, by subscribing to the constitution and by-laws, and signing the following obligation:

"I do hereby agree to aid in securing the accomplishment of the aims and objects of the Veteran Association of Colorado, and will support the constitution and by-laws of the same, and use my best endeavors to procure the political advancement of its members."

There are no fees or dues in connection with membership, and all financial obligations of the association are to be met by voluntary contribution.

A state executive committee has been appointed to represent the Colorado association in the making of all agreements and contracts with the state executive committees of the political parties, both in regard to the number of candidates the association will be allowed on state tickets, and the appointments to be made by state officers. This committee will have full power to act in such matters, subject, however, to the approval of the association.

Inasmuch as the members of this association in the state of Colorado will influence about 35,000 votes, it is believed its influence will be felt in the coming election.

GOVERNOR WILL BE ASKED TO OPEN ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW

The annual exhibit of the El Paso County Horticultural society, to be held at North park on August 22, 23 and 24, may be opened by Governor Jesse F. McDonald. At a meeting of the society, held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Cass Goddard, 808 North Cascade, last night, it was decided to extend an invitation to the state's chief executive to act in this capacity for the society.

An address was made at last night's meeting by Mrs. Dr. Peavey, on "The Preservation of the Wild Flower." The society has done much toward preserving the wild flowers in and about the city of Colorado Springs. Notices are posted in the street cars, at the different parks, and in many other public places, bearing these words:

"Preserve the wild flowers. To avoid extermination, please pick the wild flowers with moderation, and never pull the roots. By request, El Paso County Horticultural Society, Woman's Club."

The coming show was discussed at some length, and it was decided to offer four additional prizes to the school children for collections of wild flower seeds. A committee consisting of Mrs. W. K. Jewett, John Barry, Edward Johnson, was appointed to plan the manner of competition. The prizes offered are two of $5 each, offered by Mrs. Elizabeth Cass Goddard, and Mrs. A. N. Harris, and two of $2.50 each, offered by John Barry and W. W. Williams.

DOUBLE TRADEGY

FORMER COLORADO SPRINGS [illegible] KILLS [illegible] AND COMMITS SUICIDE.

William J. Hudson, an engineer, formerly of Colorado Springs, shot and killed his wife Monday night at Pasadena, Cal., and then escaped to Los Angeles where he committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid.

The murder was committed at the home of Dr. A. Hoag, where Mrs. Hudson was employed as a domestic. The detail of the crime were given to the police by Dr. Hoag's little son, who was alone with the woman when Hudson shot her. Although the circumstances leading up to the crime are unknown, it is believed that Hudson, who had been separated from his wife for some time, came to her and importuned her to return to him and when she refused to do so, shot her.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to the physician and their easy-going and indifferent, or over busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. [illegible] like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, [illegible]

DEAD TIMBER HAS MANY USES

FIRE-KILLED TREES ... FOREST RESERVE ISSUES CIRCULAR

As a result of a study of conditions on the Pike's Peak forest reserves, the forest service of the United States has issued the following circular which will be of interest to Colorado Springs people:

"Although it has been known for a number of years that fire-killed timber has a considerable value in railroad and mining operations in Colorado, it has been brought out only recently by the forest service that a wide number of uses are open for this timber, and that in certain respects it has actual advantages over green wood.

"These facts are deduced from a study of conditions on the Pike's Peak forest reserve, where the ravages of fire have been particularly widespread and destructive. In many instances the burned timber is the only kind available at a particular point, for example, in proximity to a mine or a spur of railroad, so for timbers and tie the dead material has been used for many years—15 year at Palmer Lake, seven years at Florissant for railroad ties, and longer than this for mine timbers. Three years ago it was first used for box boards and has proved excellent. In May, 1905, there was a sale for telephone poles.

"The species used are red fir, yellow pine, lodgepole pine, limber pine, range pine, pinon, Englemann spruce, and blue spruce. Of these, the pines, red fir and Englemann spruce furnish the bulk of the material. Time elapsed since burning seems to make no great difference in the value of the wood, except that when serious checking results it loses its value for box purposes. The timber used has been burned all the way from three to 55 years.

"The amount of timber which has been used is very considerable. There has been one sale from the reserve for box boards and one for telephone poles, but the three main uses continue to be for mine timbers, railroad ties and firewood.

"Red fir is preferred for railroad ties, then yellow pine, limber pine, and range pine. White pine has been objected to because of its lack of durability, but it is now taken in many places. At Rosemont, Colo., burned timber of all kinds is made into ties, some of the material having been burned fifty years ago. It is asserted that dry ties last as long as green ties and in many cases longer. On the Cripple Creek Short Line they were more satisfactory than green pine ties from Texas. Dry ties hold a spike well, and a tie plate does not cut into the wood so seriously as it does in the case of a green tie. Englemann spruce is as good as other species as far as mechanical wear is concerned, but it decays much quicker and so should be given a preservative treatment.

"Burned timber was first used for boxes by the Denver Crate & Box company in February, 1903, the species used being Englemann spruce and lodgepole pine, with some red fir and limber pine. The material used had been burned from one and one-half to four years. The Englemann spruce was excellent, and the lodgepole pine also gave good results. The fire seasoning had driven the odor out of the pine so that it could be used for packing biscuits. Also, on account of the perfect seasoning the boxes remained tight when put up and therefore sold better than green boxes.

"Form ine timbers all species are used, if of the requisite size. Dry timber is preferred because of its lightness, durability and stiffness, all principally due to its better seasoning.

"For many purposes fire-killed timber should be preferred to green timber because it is so well seasoned. This easoning makes it more durable than green timber, and also makes it lighter, so that its cost of transportation is appreciably less, and it is therefore available, not only for numerous local ues, but for shipping long distances. Actual experience with the fire-killed timber proves that its utilization should be a source of profit to the reserve."

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

A GREAT WRONG RIGHTED.

The play to be presented at the Opera house this evening by the Kempton Komedy Kompany is the sensational drama entitled "A Great Wrong Righted." The Kemptons are pleasing large audiences with the plays they are presenting, and the excellent manner in which they are staged. The refined vaudeville numbers they introduced between each act are a strong feature with the show. At the matinee tomorrow afternoon they will present that lively comedy, "Fun in a Boarding School." This will be a great bill for ladies and children. In the evening they will be seen in a good southern drama entitled "In Old Virginia." This will be the last week of their engagement and those who enjoy good plays well presented should attend. Matinee prices are, children 10, adults 20c. Evening prices, 10c, 20c, 30c and 50c.

JEANCON MAKES HIT AT HIAWATHA GARDENS

A large and appreciative audience gathered at the Hiawatha Gardens at the opening concert last night. The former theater has been transformed into a spacious summer garden where, among the foliage and lights, one may enjoy a delightfully cool evening's entertainment.

The orchestra gives promise of being one of the best in this section and discoursed classic and popular music.

Mr. Jeancon, the baritone from Chicago, made an instantaneous hit and his full, rich voice awakened the echoes of the hills around. Mr. Jeancon's voice shows remarkable cultivation and power, while his expression is perfect. Owing to his very recent arrival he was not able to respond to all the encores on account of the altitude, but he hopes in a few days to be in shape to respond fully.

These summer night concerts promise to be the rage this season. New talent will be secured from time to time and the management promises to not only keep up the high standard of the entertainments, but to add new features as the occasion arises.

Mr. Jeancon will sing "For All Eternity" with violin obligato this evening.

TYNDALL ON "EASTERN AND WESTERN OCCULTISM."

Famous Thinker Speaks Tonight at New Thought Reading Room in Midland Block.

Immense audiences have been the vogue at the McIvor-Tyndall meetings, and it is highly probable that the New Thought Reading Rooms, 9 and 12 Midland Block, 110½ Pike's Peak avenue, will not be large enough to accommodate all who will want to hear Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall, the noted scientist and teacher, in his lecture on "Eastern versus Western Occultism," which he will deliver tonight in the Reading Rooms of the local New Thought league.

The subject has been selected as an answer to many inquiries regarding the difference—if any exist—between the modern Metaphysical movement in this country and Europe, and the much talked of occultism of India and the Orient. Dr. McIvor-Tyndall besides being the best known exponent of Mental and Psychic science in this country, has traveled in the Far East and can therefore speak from personal experience of the alleged marvels performed by the fakirs and adepts of India.

The subject is one of general interest and even curiosity, and as the seating capacity of the New Thought quarters is limited, it will be necessary for those who desire to hear this discourse to be in time for the meeting, which will begin promptly at 8:15.

Following the discourse there will be discussions and questions in which the audience is invited to take part.

Many visitors to the city express their pleasure and satisfaction at the opportunity to hear so famous an educator as Dr. McIvor-Tyndall and the attendance upon his Wednesday and Sunday evening meetings is phenomenal.

On Sunday the meeting will be held in Majestic hall at 8:15 o'clock, the subject of the discourse being "Keepers of the Threshold."

Tonight the doors of the New Thought Reading Rooms will be opened at 7:30.

The Man who saved Montana

Wilbur F. Sanders hanged fifty road agents and put a stop to the "hands-up" terrorism with which Montana was ridden thirty years ago.

The story as told by C. P. Connolly in

McClure's Magazine for August

has the terrible earnestness of truth told without a flourish. This is the beginning of "The Story of Montana," telling of the rising of the vigilantes, headed by Sanders, the treasure of Butte Hill, the Daly-Clark fight and the sensational Heinze copper struggle.

August is the fiction number of McClure's, but truth is stranger than fiction. The two strongest features of the August number are the Montana Copper Story and Jack London's thrilling narrative, "The Unexpected,"—both true. Other stories by McClure's favorite fictionists are by O. Henry, Rudyard Kipling, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow and Myra Kelly.

AN ORDINANCE.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 24, 1906.

The following form of ordinance was introduced and read in full at a regular adjourned meeting of the City Council held on the 23rd day of July, 1906, and was ordered published.

K. M. MACMILLAN,
City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

CREATING PAVING DISTRICT NUMBER TWO OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS, AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION OF SIDEWALKS, THE GRADING, CURBING, GUTTERING, PAVING, PARKING AND OTHERWISE IMPROVING OF CASCADE AVENUE IN THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS, BETWEEN THE NORTH LINE OF DEL NORTE STREET AND THE SOUTH LINE OF MADISON STREET.

WHEREAS, at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Colorado Springs, Colorado, held on the 19th day of April, A. D. 1906, there was presented to said City Council a petition praying that North Cascade Avenue between the north line of Del Norte Street and the south line of Madison Street in the City of Colorado Springs, Colorado, should be graded according to the official grade, curbed and guttered with cement and paved with gravel suitable for the purpose, the wearing surface to be six inches thick and laid on a foundation of well rolled earth, and that a suitable cement sidewalk of six feet in width should be laid on Cascade Avenue between the limits aforesaid; that said improvements should include a park space thirty-four feet wide in the center of said avenue between said limits and such water conduits and other incidentals as might be prescribed in the specifications for said improvements; and

WHEREAS, said petition further provided that the cost of said improvements to be assessed should not exceed the sum of Five and 80/100 Dollars ($5.80) for each foot of frontage on said part of Cascade Avenue to be assessed therefor, and that said improvements should be ordered upon the annual installment plan of ten annual installments and interest on all deferred installments not exceeding six per cent per annum; and

WHEREAS, said petition for said improvements was subscribed by the owners of the lots and tracts of land abutting on North Cascade Avenue between the north line of Del Norte street and the south line of Madison street in said city, and upon the intersecting streets within one-half block in each direction from each intersection, and was subscribed by the owners of a majority of the frontage of the ground to be assessed for said improvements, and by the owners of a majority of the frontage within said limits as aforesaid abutting on Cascade Avenue; and

WHEREAS, on the 7th day of May, A. D. 1906, by resolution passed on that date, the City Council of the City of Colorado Springs authorized and directed the City Engineer to make and prepare full details and specifications in conformity with the petition presented, and an estimate of the cost of said improvements together with a map of said district and a schedule showing the approximate amounts to be assessed upon each piece of property in said district; and

WHEREAS, thereafter, to-wit on June 18th, 1906, the City Engineer reported to the City Council pursuant to the provisions of the resolution of May 7, 1906, full details and specifications and an estimate of the cost of said improvements, a map of said district and a schedule showing the approximate amounts to be assessed, and the City Council by resolution passed on the 18th day of June 1906, adopted full details and specifications for said improvements and designated the district to be improved as Paving District Number Two of the City of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and in said resolution provided for grading the said district according to the official grade, curbing and guttering it with cement, and paving with gravel suitable for the purpose, the wearing surface to be six inches thick and laid on a foundation of well rolled earth, and provided that a suitable cement sidewalk of six feet in width should be laid, and that said improvements should include a park space thirty-four (34) feet wide in the center of said Cascade Avenue between said limits, and such water conduits and other incidentals as were prescribed in the specifications for said improvements, all of which more specifically appears by reference to said resolution. Said City Council in the above mentioned resolution also determined the number of installments and the time in which the cost of said improvements should be payable, the rate of interest on unpaid installments, the extent of the district, and in said resolution also approved and adopted the details, specifications, estimate of the cost, map and schedule presented by the City Engineer relating to said district, said estimate showing the approximate amounts to be assessed upon each piece of real estate in said district, by which estimate it appears that the probable total cost of said improvements is the sum of Twenty-three thousand two hundred dollars (23,200); that the total cost per front foot of the real estate abutting on Cascade Avenue within the limits aforesaid would probably not exceed the following amounts respectively, to-wit, upon the lots and parcels of ground fronting upon Cascade Avenue the sum of Five and 32/100 Dollars ($5.32) for each front foot, and at the rate of Fifty-six Dollars ($56) for each one hundred and ninety feet of frontage on the intersecting streets:

WHEREAS, said City Council by advertisement for at least twenty days in two newspapers of general circulation published in the City of Colorado Springs, to-wit, the Colorado Springs Gazette and the Colorado Springs Evening Telegraph, has given notice to the owners of the real estate to be assessed in said improvement district of the kind of improvements proposed, the number of installments, the time in which the cost will be payable, the rate of interest on unpaid and deferred installments, the extent of the district to be improved, the propable cost per front foot as shown by said estimate of the City Engineer, and all matters or information required by the statute, and the time, to-wit the 23rd day of July, A. D. 1906, the same being more than thirty days after the first publication of said advertisement when a resolution or ordinance ordering said improvements would be considered by the City Council, and that said maps, estimates and schedule showing the amounts to be assessed, and all resolutions and proceedings of the said City Council in the premises were on file and could be seen and examined at the office of the City Clerk within said thirty days by any person interested, and that all complaints and objections that might be made in writing concerning said improvements by any owner or owners of any real estate to be assessed therefor would be heard and determined by the City Council before final action upon said resolution or ordinance ordering said improvements; and

WHEREAS, at the date hereof, to-wit, July 23, 1906, one protest in writing has been presented stating no reason however why said improvements should not be ordered, which protest was denied and overruled: Therefore

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS:

Section 1. That upon consideration of the premises the City Council of the City of Colorado Springs doth hereby find that in its action upon said petition and in the adoption of said resolution and giving of said notice the City Council fully complied with the provisions of the law of the State of Colorado relating thereto; that said improvements were and are duly ordered after notice duly given as prescribed by the statute, and that said petition was duly presented and was subscribed by the required number of owners, being the owners of a majority of the frontage of the ground to be assessed for said improvements and the owners of the majority of the frontage abutting upon Cascade Avenue between the north line of Del Norte Street and the South side of Madison street in the City of Colorado Springs.

Section 2. That the construction of said improvements, to-wit, the grading, curbing, guttering, paving, parking, laying of sidewalks and otherwise improving of the said Cascade Avenue in the City of Colorado Springs between the limits aforesaid, be and the same is hereby authorized and ordered; that said improvements shall consist of grading according to the official grade the said Cascade Avenue, and the same shall be curbed and guttered with cement and paved with gravel suitable for the purpose, the wearing surface to be six inches thick and laid on a foundation of well rolled earth; said improvements shall include a park space thirty-four feet wide in the center of said avenue between said limits, and such water conduits and other incidentals as are prescribed in the specifications for said improvements, all of which more specifically and at length appear by reference to the details, plans and specifications heretofore adopted; PROVIDED, however, that the cost of said improvements shall not exceed the estimates of the City Engineer of the City of Colorado Springs.

Section 3. That for the purpose of this ordinance the said district is hereby created and established, and designated as Paving District Number Two of the City of Colorado Springs, Colorado, the same consisting of all the lots and parcels of land to their full depth, not exceeding one hundred and ninety feet, abutting on each side of said Cascade Avenue from the north line of Del Norte Street to the south line of Madison Street in said City of Colorado Springs, and all of the lots and parcels of ground abutting on the intersecting streets between said limits, within a distance of one-half block in each direction from the respective intersections of said streets with said Cascade Avenue.

Section 4. All bonds and warrants to be issued in payment for said improvements shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

SLEEP OF HIBERNATION.

When Complete No Sign of Respiration Can Be Detected

From the London Spectator.

The sleep of hibernation is a very different matter from the sleep of repose. If it be complete, respiration can no longer be detected. A torpid bat when disturbed will heave a sigh or two and, being left alone again, to all appearances ceases to breathe. Submerged in water of a temperature slightly higher than his own, the hedgehog not only continues to live, but appears to suffer neither inconvenience nor harm. Inclosed in an air-tight receptacle, his atmosphere undergoes a change so slight that it can not be imputed to breathing. But circulation does not cease. As respiration diminishes, the irritability of the muscles of the heart increases, and thus without the stimulus of oxygen, although much more slowly, the heart continues to beat. In the absence of the fresh air drawn into the lungs in times of activity, uncleansed and unrevigorated and venous blood passes on to fill the whole system of circulation. A profound lethargy ensues, only distinguishable from death by the slight beating of the heart. The waste is very small. The fat accumulated during the plenty of summer and autumn supplies all expenditure until the coming of spring, when earlier or later the hibernating animal, having no capital in reserve, begins to suffer the pangs of hunger. In response to the demand, respiration very slowly increases. His oxidized blood flows more quickly and his energy returns.

Then the bat flies forth once more from the hollow tree in the wood to find the warm dusk teeming with insect life, and the hedgehog comes, it may be from the ... under the gnarled roots below, to find beetles, worms and slugs once more among the spring grass. Hibernation has saved him from starvation, but if his nook had not been ... and wisely chosen it could not have preserved him from death by frost. The hiding place also must be secret and free from intrusion, for the hibernating animal can not bear to be suddenly aroused. Even the little dormouse, which comes out at intervals to feed, when in deep sleep does not survive too hasty an awakening. The heat of the hand gradually passing through the nest or to be carried indoors to the warmer atmosphere of a room is well enough. He awakes refreshed, full of activity and with a disposition speedily to become tame and make friends. But if you warm him suddenly back to life before he has gradually breathed the torpor out of his blood and established an equilibrium between his respiration and muscular irritability, his heart will beat at a tremendous rate, and in a few minutes he is dead.

L. C. DANA ISSUES ORDERS FOR NATIONAL G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Orders relative to the national G. A. R. encampment which will be held at Minneapolis August 13 to 18 inclusive, were issued yesterday by General L. C. Dana, commander of the department of Colorado and Wyoming. Included in General Dana's orders is an invitation to members of various G. A. R. posts to visit the Pikes Peak Centennial on Military Day, September 24. The appointment of the delegates from Wyoming and Colorado is also announced. Following are the orders:

General L. C. Dana, commander of the department of Colorado and Wyoming, G. A. R., today issued general orders in regard to the fortieth national encampment to be held at Minneapolis, Minn., August 13 to 18 inclusive.

General Dana announces that a special train over the Burlington railroad will carry the Colorado and Wyoming delegates and members of affiliated organizations to the national encampment. This train will leave Denver at 3 p. m. on August 11, arriving at Minneapolis the next evening at 5:30 o'clock. The Denver-Minneapolis club and the George W. Cook drum corps will accompany the special train.

Included in General Dana's orders is the announcement of the delegates from Colorado and Wyoming, and the appointment of various officers as assistant patriotic instructors and aides-de-camp.

Another feature of the orders is an invitation to the members of the various G. A. R. posts to be present and take in the Pikes Peak Centennial, September 23 to 29, on "Military Day," September 24. General Dana's orders are as follows:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF COLORADO AND WYOMING GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 23, 1906.

General Orders No. 3.

1.—The fortieth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held at Minneapolis, Minn., during the week of August 13 to 18.

2.—Headquarters of the department of Colorado and Wyoming during that time will be at Hotel Waverly, corner of Harmon Place and Eleventh street, Minneapolis, Minn., where mine host Comrade Fisher will dispense hospitality at reasonable rates. The headquarters rooms of the G. A. R. are situated on the parlor floor and arrangements will be made for headquarters for the W. R. C. and L. G. A. R. at the same hotel.

Past Department Commander Curfman, chairman of the committee on hotel accommodations, has recently visited Comrade Fisher, proprietor of the Waverly hotel, and has been assured that the Colorado and Wyoming delegation will be properly cared for.

3.—The national encampment headquarters will be at the Hotel West, only a few blocks away, while the auditorium and public library are in close proximity. The great Grand Army parade will occur on Wednesday, August 15, at 10 a. m. The Colorado and Wyoming department of the G. A. R. will be headed by the famous Cook drum corps, eighty musicians and the ladies' drill team of twenty-six, and will assemble at Waverly hotel headquarters at 8 a. m. sharp.

The line of march will be about two miles in length over paved streets and through a beautiful section of the city. Comrades not familiar with the program of exercises, will take notice that Monday, August 13, will be reception day and assignment of visitors. Tuesday, August 14, 10 a. m., military and civic parade, and in the afternoon a meeting of the National association of Shiloh Survivors. Wednesday forenoon the grand parade led by our honored commander-in-chief, General James Tanner, and in the evening a reception in his honor will be tendered by the Woman's Relief corps. Thursday and Friday, August 16 and 17, will be devoted to the business of the national department.

4.—Official route. Owing to the very stringent laws enforced by the interstate commerce commission, the various railroads are required to make uniform rates without prejudice or partiality to persons or organizations. And after due consideration the committee on transportation have decided that the most convenient route would be over the following lines which are hereby adopted as the official route:

Leaving Colorado Springs over the D. & R. G. railway Saturday, August 11, 8 a. m., arriving at Denver 11:05 a. m., leaving Denver on our own special train the same day at 3 p. m. over the Burlington route, arriving at Omaha Sunday, August 12, at 6 a. m., leaving Omaha same morning at 6:45 a. m. over the Northwestern railway and arriving at Minneapolis the same evening at 5:30 o'clock. The fare for the round trip from Denver, Pueblo or Colorado Springs is $18.15. Standard sleeper one way, $3.50; tourist $2.75. Tickets good until August 31, and on payment of fifty cents additional, may be extended until September 30.

The Minneapolis G. A. R. committee is endeavoring to do away with the validation of tickets at Minneapolis, and the Western Passenger association has in view the establishing of a rate for return trip via Chicago by adding thereto the additional mileage. This arrangement, if eventually made will be published in the daily papers.

5.—The Denver Minneapolis club will accompany the official train.

For the purpose of raising funds for transportation, arranging hotel and sleeping car accommodations, and such other matters pertaining to the trip as may be necessary, the above club has been formed, with the following officers: Geo. W. Cook, president; Geo. W. Curfman, vice president; Samuel C. Dorsey, secretary and treasurer. Application for membership must be made to Samuel C. Dorsey, secretary, 833 Majestic building, Denver, Colorado, on or before August 5.

All persons, whether members of the G. A. R. or not, are eligible to membership, and the department commander desires to earnestly urge the attendance of every comrade possible, not only to show our respect to our beloved commander-in-chief, General James Tanner, but also to show the respect and esteem in which we hold our honored comrade and fellow citizen, General George W. Cook, senior vice commander-in-chief, who will be escorted by the drum corps which bears his name and has a world-wide reputation. It is also expected that the Denver G. A. R. veterans drum corps will accompany us.

6.—So many inquiries have been made for names and addresses of delegates and alternates were therefore republish same:

Delegates: I. H. Cheney, post No. 15, Monte Vista, Colo.; A. M. Story, post No. 86, Cripple Creek, Colo.; A. A. Hoskin, post No. 11, Denver, Colo.; G. F. Shannon, post No. 85, Denver, Colo.; J. C. McKillip, post No. 8, Pueblo, Colo.

Alternates: D. H. Horner, post No. 46, Denver, Colo.; W. H. Smith, post No. 4, Denver, Colo.; Edward Pitkin, post No. 14, Denver, Colo.; E. C. Goss, post No. 81, Denver, Colo.

7. Post commanders who have not complied with general order No. 1 are requested to do so at once and send to these headquarters the names of two comrades, one for appointment as assistant patriotic instructor and one for aide-de-camp.

8. The following appointments are hereby announced:

Ass. Patriotic Ins.	Aide de Camp	Post No.	City	State
Samuel I. Nash	Peter B. Sprinkle	2	Georgetown,	Colorado
Thomas J. Foote	John J. Klick	4	Denver	Colorado
W. D. Pruitt	Wm. Butler	6	Longmont	Colorado

9. Pikes Centennial Celebration, September 23 to 29 inclusive, at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

In recognition of the notable career of Zebulon Montgomery Pike, soldier, explorer, the people of Colorado will commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Pike's Peak, and the Grand Army department of Colorado and Wyoming have been invited to participate in the exercises which are of national importance. It is therefore earnestly urged by the department commander that all comrades of this department as well as all visiting comrades be present and take part in the grand parade military day, Monday, September 24, in which G. A. R. veterans, United States troops, Spanish American war veterans, National guard cadets and patriotic societies will take part.

10. I inclose herewith national general order No. 10.

IN MEMORIAM.

1. It is with feelings of deepest regret that I refer to the tragic death of Mrs. James Tanner, wife of our beloved commander-in-chief, known and beloved by all our comrades. She was taken from us so suddenly and without warning we can hardly realize that it is true. This department promptly sent a telegram of condolence and again in behalf of the department we extend our sincere sympathy to our comrade, General James Tanner, in the loss of his noble wife who had been his faithful and affectionate companion for so many years. Her exemplary life and beautiful character had endeared her to the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, and in this, his deepest sorrow, we can only commend him to the great commander above, who doeth all things well.

By order of

L. C. DANA, Department Commander.

Official: I. C. BURT,
Assistant Adjutant General.

MANITOU NEWS

Within two days, the new oil-burning locomotive for the Cog road will make its first ascent of the peak. W. J. Sweiggard of the Baldwin Locomotive works, from whom the engine was purchased, is setting it up.

This engine together with a new observation car recently purchased, will increase the facilities of the road so that 24 trips to the peak will be possible between sunrise and sunset. This will give the company six trains and each is capable of four trips daily. The new coach is designed especially for use early and late in the season being vestibuled at each end.

Early in 1891, the first locomotives were delivered to the Manitou & Pike's Peak railway. They were not altogether satisfactory because of the disagreeable vibrations while in motion. The next year, engines of a slightly different design were ordered. While several changes have been made, and the service has been improved, it is believed that none will be more satisfactory in every particular than the new one, which was secured at a cost of nearly $10,000.

Late arrivals at the Sunnyside are the Misses Eleanor B., Laura M. and Jeanette B. McCarthy, Nellie Nealy and Anna L. Maher, Newport, Ky.; Father Wilson, Cincinnati; W. H. Campbell, J. H. FINDS NEGLECTED SHOOT; $200 ORE

[illegible] HILL [illegible] FOLLO[illegible] IN WAKE OF [illegible] PROSPECTORS AND MAKES A RICH STRIKE.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—Lessee McDowell, operating on the Termoni property on Gold hill, through an old tunnel, has cut a three-foot vein at an approximate depth of 100 feet, from which he is taking out rich ore. Returns on a 20-ton shipment were $200 to the ton.

The vein appears to be in place and it looks like McDowell has found a rich shoot which has been passed up for years by other prospectors. Another shipment will go out the latter part of the week which is expected to give returns of from eight to twelve ounces in gold to the ton.

The United Gold Mines company will begin at once to crosscut at a depth of 1,100 feet in the Wild Horse, in the Old Gleason shaft, to the vein which a few years ago produced much rich ore. Former operations were stopped by bad air, but this difficulty has now been removed. Lessees on the 500-foot level are getting out one car a week of two-ounce ore, broken down two feet wide.

JERRY JOHNSON FLOODED.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—Surface water, due to the rains of the past few [illegible], has [illegible] the workings of the Jerry Johnson company's main shaft and the 550 level is flooded. It is being pumped out as rapidly as possible and [illegible] working in and through the Jerry's main shaft hope to be able to resume work very soon.

PAY SHOOT IS CUT BY A SHORT TUNNEL

SEARCHLIGHT, Nev., July 24.—Two important discoveries of ore have been made within the past week on the Buster Brown and Esmeralda claims in Eldorado canon. Considerable surface [illegible]nching and shallow cuts have been made, with the result that by following a lead from the side of the hill and running a tunnel an ore shoot was cut at a depth of fifty feet. The vein is a well defined, true fissure, with both hanging and foot walls exposed and is eight feet in width. The ore is iron quartz carrying gold and silver and runs in porphyry and talc. A noticeable feature of this find is the fact that the ledge has a hard quartz casing on both sides that carries good gold values. Samples taken from the casings averaged better than $15 in gold.

RUSH WORK ON THE NEW ISABELLA MILL

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—A large crew of men and several teams are at work making excavations for the big mill to be erected by the Isabella Mines company on its Bull hill property. The mill will be of a capacity of 100 tons a day and work on its construction will go on uninterruptedly until its completion. It is hoped the mill will be running by the close of the present year. There is an unlimited supply of low grade ore in nearly all levels of the Isabella from the first to the fourteenth.

BELL WANTS SHARE IN THE AJAX LEASE

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—Edward Bell today brought suit in the district court against J. D. Lambright, his brother-in-law; Raymond S. Husted, James F. Hadley and Tully Scott for a one eighth interest in the Beacon Hill [illegible]. He asks a receiver, judgment for his portion of $100,000, which he believes has been extracted by the defendants, and for a restraining order.

OPHIR MINE MAKING STEADY PRODUCTION

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—The [illegible] Hill Ophir, owned by Mrs. Cone of Canon City, is rushing production and nearly six cars a week are being [illegible] out at this time. The ore [illegible] to have a value of from $60 to $80 in gold to the ton.

Operations are being conducted in a [illegible] between the sixth and seventh levels and also in a winze which is 65 feet below the 700-foot level. As soon as the litigation with the Jennie Sample company is settled, the shaft will be put down to the 800-foot level, when the production will be greatly increased.

SCHOOL SECTION SHIPMENTS.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—The [illegible] Section Leasing company, operating on the Cameron school section No. [illegible], is shipping from two to three cars of [illegible] a week. Screenings are running [illegible], while the coarse rock gives [illegible] of about $25. The ore is being [illegible] at the 450-foot level, where the [illegible] is from three to five feet wide. [illegible] has produced gross about [illegible].

[illegible] 5 OUNCE RETURNS.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—A shipment of ore from the Jeff Davis lease [illegible] & Taft on the Lexington company's property is expected to give returns of around two ounces to the ton. [illegible] show much higher values than [illegible] and the streak from which the [illegible] is obtained at a depth of 150 [illegible] it appears to be widening.

A HARD LOT

[illegible] to contend with, [illegible] and [illegible] bowels [illegible] them, to their proper action [illegible] Dr. King's New Life Pills; the [illegible] they prevent [illegible] the system. [illegible] D. [illegible] Co.

KING OF CARBONATES VEIN EXTENSION CUT

SILVER CLIFF, Colo., July 24.—An extension of the King of the Carbonates vein has been discovered in an adjoining property on the north by J. E. Ray, the Westcliffe merchant. Where the vein is uncovered not over a foot in depth has been attained, but the walls exposed, the dip, etc., indicate that that the King vein has been found. There is every likelihood that a little development work there will open another shipping proposition.

Messrs. Blackett and Bishop have secured the fluorspar property of Moses Moore south of Rosita, and have taken out a car of the material for trial shipment to the Colorado Fuel and Iron company in Pueblo as soon as they can get teams to haul it to the depot. Should the quality of the spar hold up as it is believed it will extensive shipments will be made, for there is an unlimited supply of it.

MINING ACTIVITY IN OLD DISTRICT

SPLENDID ORE BODY OPENED UP ON FRYER HILL—INSTALLING MACHINERY ON ROBERT E. LEE.

LEADVILLE, Colo., July 24.—From the work that is at present going on on old Fryer hill, it seems that this district will never cease producing, as the daily tonnage that is going out now far surpasses the anticipations of the most sanguine. It has been repeatedly stated that the Climax was worked out, still a local company takes hold of three acres of ground that never had a pick in it, sinks a new shaft and at a depth of 135 feet opens a splendid body of iron ore. This has so encouraged the lessees that when affairs are in shape the shaft will be sunk to the lower contact, where it is anticipated a rich body of carbonate ore exists.

The same story applies to the Robert E. Lee, one of the richest properties in the camp in early days, and a mine that has been idle for many years. W. S. Jones has secured a lease on it, organized a company and is hard at work installing machinery and doing the necessary surface improvements. These will be completed by the middle of the week, when underground work will be carried on in the old workings for the present. When Mr. Jones gets this work going in good shape it is his intention to sink the shaft to the lower contact.

With the Matchless, Fraction, Dunkin, Chrysolite, Little Pittsburg, Little Chief, Progressive, El Paso, Jimmie Lee, Cora Belle-Bangkok, all shipping ore, it does not look as if the hill was played out.

PREPARE TO DEVELOP WESTON GROUP MINES

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., July 24.—The S. A. Weston group of mining properties on Night Hawk hill on the boundary between Clear Creek and Gilpin counties will soon be extensively developed under the direction of Mr. S. A. Weston. The plan for opening the property is a very complete comprehension of the needs and possibilities of the various lodes and shoots, and is founded upon an exhaustive exploitation of the veins at the surface.

The property consists of 45 acres of mineral land in a compact body grouped about a great mother lode which is formed in the contact of a conspicuous dyke which courses through this and the adjoining Seaton hill.

RAMONA TO SEND OUT ANOTHER 200 TON LOT

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—Another consignment of 200 tons of low grade ore is being made from the Ramona lease of Hemble & Co. to the Ironclad cyanide mill, making the second shipment of similar size to go out this month. The ore is being hauled in wagons carrying nearly six tons each and several sets of fours are being worked on the job. Lessee Hemble is deriving much profit from the low grade ore obtained in his lease. Returns of $8 a ton are received from his mill runs and the total expense of hauling is not over $4 a ton. The ore is mined at a depth of 200 feet and is raised with an electric hoist.

KARG GETS LEASE ON GOLDEN CYCLE DUMP

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—Peter Karg has been granted a lease on the dumps at the La Bella of the Golden Cycle mine and is now installing five washers. Karg expects to work over and ship about three cars of ore a week. The ore will give returns of about one ounce, while the screenings will run several ounces.

SHIP RICHES FROM NORTH STAR CLAIM

SILVERTON, Colo., July 21.—Ludwig Vota, leaser on the North Star on Sultan mountain, has made a shipment of seventy tons of ore to the Durango smelter, which netted $100 to the ton. A force of eight men has been working part of the time since the first of the year and the shipment is the result of their labors.

This property has been a great producer which had been allowed to lapse, but returns of late have been so encouraging that work on a large scale is likely to result in a short time.

The mine is owned by the Contention Mining company, principally shareholders of the Smuggler-Union, and Bulkley Wells is manager.

HALF MOON SHIPMENT.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—A consignment of ore went out today from the Johnson lease on the Half Moon property on Gold hill. This lease is outputting steadily at the rate of two cars a month, the ore being obtained at a depth of 400 feet and its grade being around $30 to the ton.

SHAFT ON AXTEL AND WICHITA.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 24.—Ed Doyle has sunk a shaft to a depth of 12 feet on his lease on the corner of the Axtel and Wichita claims of the Londonderry company on Ironclad hill, near Midway. The lessee has discovered a north and south vein pitching to the west and assays running as high as $70 to the ton have been taken from it. No ore body has yet been developed but Doyle thinks the outlook very encouraging.

SPASMODIC GAIN WAS SHORT-LIVED

WITHDRAWAL OF DEMAND COUNTERBALANCED SOME [illegible] PRESSURE, BUT CLOSING WAS HEAVY.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The operating forces in the stock market which had embarked in a movement for an advance in prices of stocks apparently reconsidered their immediate plans today and desisted rather abruptly from their activity. These activities were quite strikingly manifest yesterday in the face of the disturbing news from Russia, making Wall Street an isolated instance of strength amongst the group of the world's great securities markets.

It did not appear immediately that the tone of the market had undergone an alteration, although the opening dealings showed the same response to the foreign disturbances as yesterday. Then followed a vigorous recovery in response to supporting orders. It was then that an outpouring of stocks to realize gave the signal that accumulation and support were no longer to be in order. The day's principal activity was exhausted by the end of the first hour and there was a marked shrinkage afterwards and a growing apathy in speculative interest.

Call loans remained easy in spite of probable preparations for tomorrow's sale of $12,500,000 of New York city bonds. The outcome of this flotation is awaited with much interest for the light it will throw upon the state of investment demand, the apathy of which has been a persistent drag weight on securities of all kinds. The announcement of the extent to which government funds are being deposited in banks in connection with the Panama canal bond issue, the amount reaching $35,000,000, was a reassuring factor on the money situation. Reports of a $5,000,000 note issue by the American Telephone company in anticipation of subscriptions to its bond issue was regarded as evidence of the continued heavy requirements of corporations for new capital.

Interest was shown in the reported sale of a stock exchange seat at $78,000 as against the preceding price of $81,000, and a high record price above $90,000.

The drop of prices was due as much to withdrawal of demand as to any selling pressure, and there was some recovery from the bottom prices, but the closing was heavy.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,325,000. United States 4s and new 4s advanced ¼ per cent on call.

FIRMNESS RULES GRAIN MARKETS

LARGE LOCAL RECEIPTS ACTED AGAINST BULLISH REPORTS OF CROP CONDITIONS, PROVISIONS DULL.

CHICAGO, July 24.—The market opened steady and unchanged, chiefly because of the uncertainty regarding future shipments from Russia and small offerings. Trade was light and the principal sellers were cash houses. After prices had advanced, reports were received from North Dakota declaring that the crop in the northern part of that state would be 30 per cent less than last year. Other reports were less pessimistic, but declared that the crop had undoubtedly suffered damage. It was also declared that rust in considerable quantity had made its appearance in Manitoba. In addition to these advices a letter from an English statistician declared that importing countries would buy at least 200,000,000 bushels of wheat from the United States next fall. Against these bullish advices, which held the market stiffly, were the large local receipts, which exerted a strong influence in checking the upward movement. The close, however, was firm. September opened at 76½; sold between 76⅜ and 77¼ and closed at 76⅞@77, which was ⅝@⅞ higher than yesterday.

Dry weather reports from Illinois, Indiana and Missouri caused active covering by shorts and resulted in a firm and higher corn market throughout the session. September opened at 50½@⅝, sold between 50⅜ and 51⅛ and closed firm and ¾ higher, at 51.

The oats market ruled firm, partly in sympathy with corn and partly because of small receipts and some reports of damage to the crop. September opened at 32⅞, sold between 32¾ and 33½@⅝, and closed firm and ⅝@¾ higher, at 33⅜@½.

The provisions market was dull but firm. Lard and ribs closed higher and pork was steady and unchanged. Hogs were in small supply and 5 cents higher. At the close September pork was unchanged, at $17.32½. Lard and ribs were each 2½@5 higher, at $8.97½ and $9.27½@$9.30.

FINELY furnished rooms, Y. M. C. A.

ART needlework, materials and stamping. Miss Brooke, the Antlers.

A FEW CHOICE ROOMS can still be had at BROADMOOR HOTEL. Phone 271.

MARRIED—Marion A. Livingstone and Mrs. Margaret E. James, both of Council Bluffs, Ia., were married Monday by the Rev. C. S. Brooks.

WILL SPEAK Miss Margaret Cort, who has been doing missionary work in the mountains of Kentucky, will speak at the Second Presbyterian church this evening at 8 o'clock.

WAR DANCE—An Indian war dance by several Santa Clara Indians will be given at Spinney Thursday for the entertainment of the patrons of the Wildflower excursion, conducted by the Colorado Midland railroad.

STOLEN GOODS—People who have lost lawn mowers or garden hose within the last 30 days are asked to notify the police department. A number of stolen mowers and a quantity of hose awaits the owners at the city hall.

FUNERAL—The funeral of W. A. Harris will be held ... morning at 10 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Fairley & Law. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery. The funeral was postponed from yesterday afternoon.

"OLD PIKE'S PEAK"—A new song entitled, "Old Pike's Peak," which has just been published by Walter P. Smith, of Denver, a brother of Fred W. Smith, director of the Iron Springs pavilion orchestra, will be sung at the Press club show in this city at the Opera house August 13.

MIDLAND EXCURSION—The Colorado Midland will run an excursion to Spinney and return for $1.50 tomorrow. A lunch car will be attached to the train and numerous stops will be made to permit the passengers to gather wild flowers.

BIG SALE OF STAMPS—The sale of 1 cent stamps continues enormous at the local postoffice, indicating the presence of a great number of visitors. The neglect, on the part of many, to place stamps on the souvenir postals, is a source of constant annoyance to the postoffice authorities.

BUYS HOME—B. G. Baylies, a wealthy easterner, has purchased, through the agency of Yates & McClain, the eight-room modern residence of Mrs. Emma Critchlow, at 1120 North Weber street. The consideration was $5,000. Mr. Baylies, who comes from Illinois, will bring his family, his intention being to make his home in this city.

COMMITTEE TO MEET—The citizens committee appointed to endeavor to secure a five-cent car fare from the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company to Manitou and Stratton park, will meet this afternoon in the office of Mayor Henry C. Hall, Mining Exchange building.

CONDITION IMPROVED—The condition of Fireman Harry Dennis of company No. 2, who was thrown from a fire wagon Monday night and badly injured, was improved last night. According to Dr. J. H. Ferguson, who is attending the injured man, he will recover.

ONLY 82 YEARS OLD

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co. Price 50c.

CARD—We desire to thank the friends and neighbors for the many floral tributes, also for the sympathy and kindness received during the long illness and death of their mother.

MR. AND MRS. W. E. COBB.
